CHRISTEN ANNEXATION HEARINGS CLOSED

The proposed Christen Ranch annexation received a near-knockout blow Monday night as Daly City councilmen closed the door to further hearings on the matter.

Councilmen expressed regret that the land, some 1,000 acres on the southern boundaries of the city, "had no plan for development" presented by the owners.

City Councilman Micheal De Bernardi said: "I have no idea what will happen now. As far as I'm concerned right now, I'm against it."

"If a developer came in with a plan, I might change my mind, then I could see how we would benefit."

De Bernardi added that "I don't think we have sufficient data at this time. There is no land use plan."

Councilman Frank Pacelli had about the same sentiments:

"I don't think we have sufficient data at this time to really give a genuine answer. We haven't determined a land use plan. It is a question of education."

Pacelli added that "Many things are not answered. We don't want to get into a position of annexation before we have a landscaping program. We want to know it exists."

Councilman Edward Dennis: "There are not enough facts at the present time. If the time arose when more facts are available, I might consider the matter." Dennis said that Henry J. Budde, part-owner of the Christen properties, would not have a development plan for the area before two years.

Chamber Still Hot On Bus Line Problem

The Chamber of Commerce rumbled the drums once again Thursday, Dec. 7, for a better transportation system in Daly City.

Robert P. Gunthorp, a member of the board of directors of the Westlake Improvement Association, said the Westlake Association news bulletin would surely "give a blast" in its December issue against the present transportation system.

Chamber of Commerce secretary-manager Pete Markovich said several women had called him and cried over the telephone about the treatment they had received from Northgate Transit System drivers. He said a major gripe is that bus lines run intermittently and not on time.

Big Need

"This is not only a Westlake problem," President Frank Curry said. "With a population of 50,000 people, Daly City needs to give everyone some decent transportation."

Outgoing president Frank Martorana said he contacted

Christmas Festival Is Dec. 14

A program of Christmas music will be presented to the residents of Daly City and Colma area for the sixth straight year, featuring the glee clubs of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

This year's community Christmas festival, sponsored by the department of recreation, will be held at the War Memorial Community Center, Dec. 14, at 7:30 p.m., and will feature glee clubs of Benjamin Franklin and Colma Junior High Schools. The program will also spotlight individual youngsters.

Chuck Vincent, director of recreation, said the program has undergone some major changes in an attempt to make it more enjoyable. The program is free to the public.

Commercial Poker Games Are Outlawed

Poker playing in the eight existing cardrooms in San Mateo County was banned on Monday, Dec. 11, by the county board of supervisors.

Keith C. Sorenson, district attorney, had presented a long campaign against poker as a borderline activity. Poker players will now be hard-pressed to find a licensed room in which to pursue their pastime.

Because of local ordinances, prohibitions or practice, there are no cardrooms in 11 of the county's 17 cities: Daly City, Brisbane, Burlingame, Redwood City, Menlo Park, Atherton, Woodside, Millbrae, Hillsborough, San Carlos and Belmont.

The district attorney said that illegal games have been played and that unlicensed employes have been used.

"There are tendencies to stretch the laws," he said, "and it is extremely difficult to police these establishments. It is obvious that attempts to carefully regulate gambling games have failed."

School Vote Registration Deadline Thurs.

Dec. 14 is the last day to register to vote for the Feb. 6 Jefferson Union High School District tax election, according to Superintendent Edward Morgan. Registrant must be a resident of the state a year prior to Feb. 6.

Persons may register at the Daly City hall, Pacifica city hall, McKeon tract service office in St. Francis Heights (ask for Mrs. Gertrude Green), or with Mrs. Mary A. Wilson at 168 Mirada drive.

Daly City, Brisbane Road Is Planned

The San Mateo County Highway Department is currently making a study — a joint project with the Crocker Land Development Company — for a two-lane road between Daly City and Brisbane.

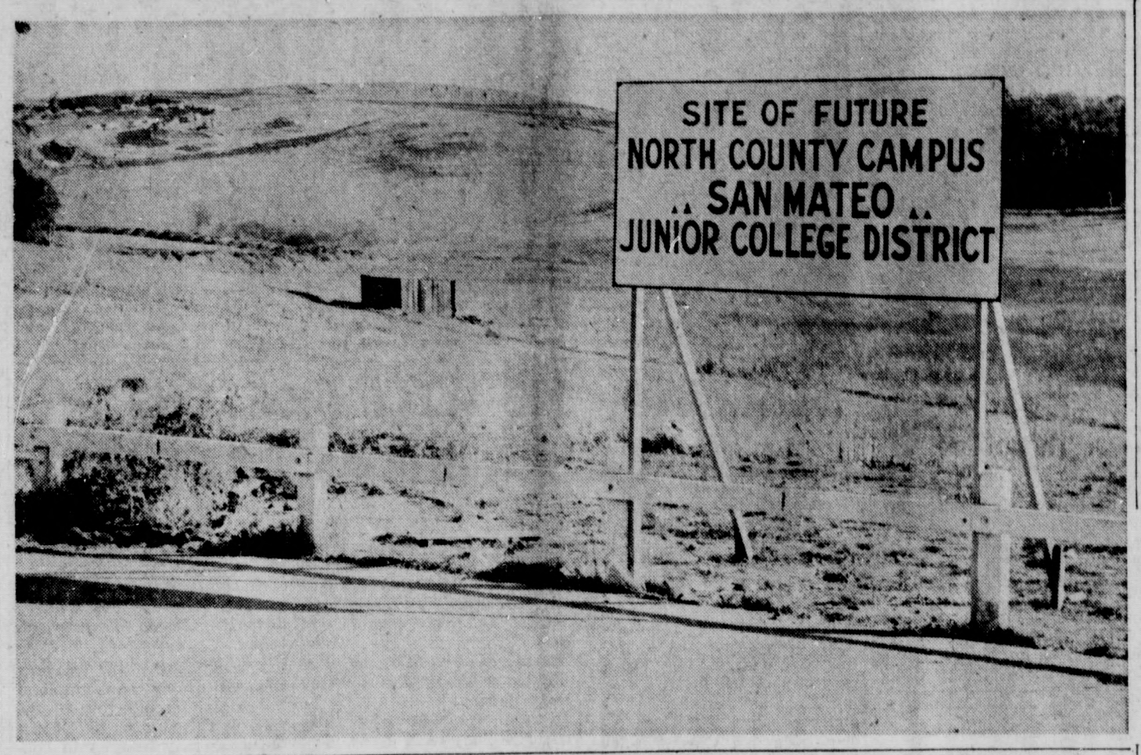
The major part of the cost of the road is to be borne by the county and Crocker interests, senior highway engineer John McCrea said.

Work on the project could begin next summer, he said. The first unit of road would project from Daly City to the summit of the Crocker hills—and 8,000 foot extension.

Then the road would continue to Brisbane for a total of about five miles.

McCrea said provisions would probably be made to make a four-lane road if future needs demand it.

The road will have about a five per cent grade coming up Colma Creek Canyon, and might run as much as six per cent in some places, McCrea stated.



A TARGET DATE of 1966 has been set for the opening of the Northern Campus of College of San Mateo on Skyline boulevard, south of Daly City. Intensive planning of the north site facilities will get underway before the completion of the central campus on College Heights in San Mateo in the fall semester of 1962.

Feeling At Supervisors Meet Brakes Rapid Transit Proposal

The snowball against rapid transit grows larger and larger.

At last Thursday's San Mateo County Supervisors public hearing on rapid transit in Redwood City, just about the only organizations that didn't speak out against the rapid transit proposals were those that didn't say anything.

By the day's end 12 city councils, nine chambers of commerce, and 16 civic organizations were on record against the rapid transit project.

City councils opposed were South San Francisco, Millbrae, Belmont, Burlingame, Half Moon Bay, Pacifica, San Carlos, Atherton, San Mateo, Hillsborough, Redwood City, and Menlo Park.

Chambers of commerce against the project were Burlingame, South San Francisco, Redwood City, San Mateo, San Carlos, Belmont, Millbrae, Half Moon Bay and Pacifica.

Civic organizations opposing were Peninsula Manufacturers Association, Peninsula Commuters Club and the Daly City Municipal Band.

Two city councils, San Bruno, and Woodside, voiced reservations, and the only other two in the county, Colma and Daly City have not been commital.

One voice favored the project. Kenneth Steadman, coordinator for the Bay Area's 31 locals and 12,000 members of the United Steel Workers, asked for approval of the plan. He said it would enable workers to be much more mobile and find a wide choice of jobs in the Bay Area.

Even the rapid transit district's board of Directors lacks unanimity. Thomas F. Casey Jr., a San Mateo county director, said:

"I have taken issue with my fellow directors on the plan because I do not believe it is feasible for adption as it now stands."

Casey would change the plans to include a dual route to the Peninsula, trains on the Dumbarton bridge, better service to the San Francisco airport, a single fare regardless of length of ride, and privately operated

Xmas Vacation Starts Friday

Kids will be getting out of school, this week to begin the long-awaited Christmas vacation.

Elementary and high school students in the Jefferson Districts leave classes Friday, Dec. 15 and return Jan. 2.

Vacations beginning Dec. 19 and ending Jan. 2 are scheduled at Holy Angels and Our Lady of Mercy schools.

CITY COUNCIL NEWS BRIEF

The Daly City city council on Monday, December 11:

1.—Voted to enter a city-county highway agreement, as the first step in a program leading to a proposed bond issue program for construction of needed highways throughout the county. The city's share of the cost of financial studies and projections would be $7,134;

2.—Denied a petition filed by T. J. Callan, Sr., to rezone Lot 9, Block 26 of Vista Grande No. 1 from R-1, single family residential, to R-3, multiple dwelling. The planning commission had recommended denial;

3.—Promised action within two weeks regarding a petition from residents complaining of sewer problems in the area of Beechwood drive and Montrose avenue;

4.—Continued until January 8 a hearing on the proposed abandonment of Estrada way;

5.—Passed a resolution opposing a tax increase of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District as "unnecessary." The proposed increase is from one cent to 1.6 cents per $100 valuation;

6.—Okayed the placing of a Christmas poster by Foster & Kleiser on a billboard on city

Councilman Hits At Rapid Transit

Daly City Councilman Edward J. Dennis this week said he is opposed to the inclusion of San Mateo County in the Bay Area Rapid Transit district. He invited like-minded citizens to oppose the project.

Dennis said that "taxpayers and residents of Daly City are confronted with a growing possibility that powerful interests will cause the proposed line to be located as to be of absolutely no practical value to residents of this area.

"The levy proposed by officials of the district is in excess of 60 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This alone is two-thirds of the ad valorem levy which the city council of Daly City makes for all general government expenses in Daly City.

"I have therefore determined to oppose the inclusion of San Mateo County within the Rapid Transit District.

"I shall do so with all my vigor and I invite all like minded citizens to oppose this unfair and burdensome tax."

City Auditor To Quit Post

Robert E. Hunter, Daly City auditor for the past eight years, announced Monday, Dec. 11, before the city council he will resign to spend more time with his law practice in San Francisco.

Hunter, 38, resides with his wife and three children at 127 Palisades, Westlake. He is a former president of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce and is active in Scout work.

Hunter was commended by Mayor Robert St. Clair for his efforts to whip Daly City finances into shape.

DC Recreation Dept. Sponsors Food Drive

Charles E. Vincent, director of recreation, announced today that the recreation department has planned to give several thousand Daly City children the heartwarming experience of helping the less fortunate. His department has joined the many civic-minded organizations and public spirited individuals engaged in "Operation Santa Claus."

Operation Santa Claus is a community project dedicated to bring the fullness of Christmas to the less fortunate homes in our area. Misfortune knows no race, creed or color. Illness, injuries, unemployment, death of a father, all contribute to reducing otherwise sustaining families to a position where they are only able to provide the barest necessities. Through Operation Santa Claus, the children of Daly City will help to make Christmas much more than just another day for families who have felt the turn of fate.

All local playgrounds will organize teams of children to collect canned food as their part of Operation Santa Claus. These teams will compete for team and playground prizes. The playground and collects the most canned food will receive a complete issue of new athletic equipment and games.

A child will be ringing your door bell on December 18-21 asking you to help him help others. Please help him understand that Christmas is a time of sharing with those who have nothing to share.

The junior high age group will hold a dance at the War Memorial Community Center on December 15, 7:30-10 p.m. Admission price will be a donation of canned food.

Daly City's Hi Fi Teen Club will hold a Christmas dance on December 16, 8-11 p.m. Admission will also be a donation of canned food.

EVENING SHOPPERS at the Westlake Shopping Center were thrilled as the Jefferson High School band and mixed chorus played and sang Christmas carols the evening of Dec. 6. Eighty-five band members and 149 choral group members participated. Westmoor High School band and choral group will combine talents Wednesday, Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. in a presentation of Christmas carols at the shopping center.

7.—Voted to put a stop sign at Eastmoor and Mirada to stop traffic both ways;

8.—Reported a letter has been sent to the State regarding causes of traffic congestion at Eastmoor and Junipero Serra boulevard. The area is outside the city limits;

9.—Passed a no-parking resolution for the west side of Garibaldi court;

10.—Noted that the city manager and city engineer will study an alternate entrance into Westlake Estates through the Fernando Rivera school

Thurs. Yule Program At Jeff High School

Parents and friends of the Jefferson High School PTA have been invited to attend the annual Christmas program to be given by the students of the Jefferson High School orchestra and glee clubs this Thursday, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. in the school cafeteria.

Christmas shoppers were caroled last Wednesday evening at the Westlake mall by this group of 200 students.

the San Francisco public utilities commission about Daly City's needs. They would run San Francisco lines to Westlake and Colma at a cost of about $25,000 per year, he said.

But, he said, an improvement would have to be shown over the present system before it is replaced.

Problem To Get Bigger

"It is a big enough problem," he said, "to take time and effort on before it's done. We will work with the city to see what is needed and what cost of service will be."

The transportation problem in Daly City, Martorana warned, will get bigger. It won't get any smaller.

Chamber director Vince Murphy said the Daly City bus lines 76 and 55 were removed in 1955.

The No. 76 line went on Mission to Colma, up Washington, through Broadmoor, up 87th street over Mattox, through Westlake and on to Stonestown. The 55 line went through Hillside, San Pedro and Washington. The lines, he said, were subsidized by the Doelger Corporation at $20,000 per year.

The first World Conference of National Parks will be held in Seattle, June 30 to July 7, 1962.

Prizes Galore Friday At Skyline

Friday night, Dec. 15, is the big night at Skyline Plaza Shopping Center.

A musical program, featuring the Westmoor High School Chorus and the Mercina Choristers, will highlight the festive evening.

Added to this will be $1,500 in free prizes to be given away. The drawing at 9:15 p. m. will include lucky numbers for a stereo, 10 wrist watches and other prizes. Drawing tickets are available at the Skyline Plaza stores.

Westmoor Plans For Expectant Parents

Registration is now being taken for an expectant parents' class at Westmoor High School, beginning Jan. 8 and sponsored by the nursing services of the American Red Cross.

Parents wishing to take the three-week course in preparation for childbirth and care of the infant through the first year may register in advance at the Red Cross by calling DI 3-4561 or PR 6-1500.

The course consists of six two-hour classes with a registered nurse as instructor. Demonstrations in which class members participate are a highlight of the course.

As the class is co-sponsored by the adult center of Westmoor High School an enrollment of at least 25 is necessary if the class is to be presented.

Christopher L. Knight Serves In Air Force

Airman Basic Christopher L. Knight, son of Herbert A. Knight, 412 Alhambra, South San Francisco, is being assigned to the United States Air Force technical training course for radar operators at Keesler AFB, Mississippi.

Airman Knight, who has completed his basic military training at Lackland AFB, Texas, was selected for the advanced training on the basic of his interests and aptitudes.

The airman is a graduate of Lowell High School in San Francisco.

California Indians threw broken stems and leaves of the weed known as Turkey Mullein into streams to stupefy fish.

SHIRLEY ROSE wearing the lighted candles of Santa Lucia holds some of the coffee and cakes that will be served at the Santa Lucia Festival on Dec. 13. Attendants are Ingrid and Kristine Tobiassen (rear), and Laura Lynn Velasquez and Martha and Anna Rose.

BURLINGAME WILL PRESENT SPECTACULAR XMAS PAGEANT

"And she brought forth her first-born son and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes and laid Him in a manger, because there was no room for them in the inn. . . ."—Luke 2.

That Bethlehem scene of long ago will be re-enacted in one of the world's largest live Nativity pageants in Burlingame, starting Thursday evening, Dec. 14, and continuing nightly, rain or shine, through Christmas eve, Dec. 24.

For the 11th consecutive year, the elaborate pageant will be a Christmas present of Burlingame's First Baptist Church to the community and, says the Rev. Dr. Cecil G. Osborne, pastor, "our effort is to put Christ back into Christmas."

The pageant will be presented from 7 to 9 p. m. daily at El Camino Real and Palm drive where a Bethlehem business street of 2,000 years ago has been recreated on the large church parking lot.

Performances will be given every 2 minutes inside the lot by a large cast of persons and animals, including a Siberian-bred, eight-year-old Bactrian (two-hump) racing camel from San Francisco's Fleishhacker Zoo who won Virginia City's 1959 Labor Day camel rance by 243 lengths.

Activities will be humming continuously on the outside of the lot.

Reproduced in authentic detail, an ancient Bethlehem street lined with shops of potters, cobblers, tentmakers, carpenters and fruit vendors will border the parking lot. Much clothing to be worn by performers was made by Arabs in the Holy Land.

Carpenters will ply their trade publicly with crude tools of 2,000 years ago. A potter will operate a foot-powered wheel, and a tentmaker will follow the tradition of Paul as he stitches fabrics with a bone needle.

Rich scents of grapes, figs, dates and melons will mingle with the spicy fragrance of oranges and limes in produce shops which are exact replicas of Bethlehem's small shops of 2,000 years ago. These are among the many fruits of that ancient land of Judea now known as Jordan which are harvested today in California.

Golden grain ready for the ancient grinding mill will lie heaped up beside colorful vegetables.

The exterior of the weaver's shop will present an example of Palestinian architecture of the time of Christ and the Roman influence may be seen in construction of a fireplace in the bakery where passersby will smell bread braking.

Visitors will see the outside entrance to the synagogue, center of religious and educational activity in the City of David, reflecting the devotion of the people to God.

The cast is to perform in front of a three-dimensional set 150 feet long and 16 feet high, depicting the hills of Bethlehem. Above the hills will be 100 twinkling stars.

The set includes a replica of the Bethlehem Inn where 2,000 years ago travelers from throughout Palestine stopped as they came to register for taxation under Rome's iron rule. And near the inn is the stable with the built-in manger.

Youths in flowing robes styled to that long ago era will depict Mary and Joseph, the Three Wise Men and the shepherds.

Business firms have loaned electronic equipment necessitating more than two miles of wiring for lighting and sound effects.

The pageant necessitates the use of thre amplifiers, two tape recorders and one message repeater, plus three telephones, an inter-com and signal system to keep things moving smoothly. Thus, different parts of the first Christmas story and Yuletide hymns will be carried simultaneously. Dr. Osborne will be the narrator.

Nothing will be for sale and no offering will be accepted.

A record 18,310 persons viewed the Pageant of Bethlehem last year. Even larger throngs are anticipated this Yuletide.

C. Columbus Glee Club To Perform

Grades four, five and six of Christopher Columbus will have their Glee Club perform before parents and teachers at the regular PTA meeting on Dec. 13 in the Columbus School multipurpose room.

The Glee Club, under the leadership of Mrs. Gaston, will sing such favorites as "Welcome, Sweet Christmas," "O Hanukah," and "Winds Through the Olive Trees."

Dave Shroeder, sixth grade student in Mr. Sarkan's class, will be the narrator, providing the audience wth background information concerning the songs presented.

On the same program, second grade children from Mrs. Alta Reed's and Mrs. Donna Gaston's classes, will offer a choral speaking presentation.

Decorating the school's Christmas tree with ornaments which all grades have created will be accomplished on Tuesday, Dec. 12.

Culminating the children's project of filling Red Cross gift boxes, will be the distribution of these around the school's Christmas tree. Following this activity will be an all-school Christmas song.

On Wednesday, Dec. 13, Mr. Robert Muller will present folk songs and a Christmas story for the first through the sixth grade classes. Mr. Muller is in charge of the district's instructional materials library.

Classroom parties sponsored and served by the Columbus PTA will take place on Thursday, December 14.

Folk Festival Planned By Scandinavians

The Scandinavian Folk Dance Club of San Francisco will present the Santa Lucia Festival on Wednesday, Dec. 13, at 8 p. m. at the Mission Neighborhood Center, 362 Capp street, San Francisco. In Sweden, the Lucia Day marks the beginning of the Christmas season as light returns to the northern countries.

Shirley Rose, dressed in the traditional white gown with crimson sash and wearing a crown of lighted candles, will represent the Lucia maiden. The Scandinavian Folk Dancers will dance as part of the pageantry. There will be traditional refreshments of fresh Lucia buns, Christmas cakes and coffee, as well as a program of Scandinavian music and dancing. A wonderful evening has been planned from 8 to 11 for all who can attend this extraordinary evening.

South City Council Votes Culture Center

The South San Francisco City Council continued its civic improvement program last week when the members awarded the first money for a municipal fine arts, drama, and recreational center to be constructed on the site of old Magnolia school and Grand avenue.

The contract, given to architect Paul Markling, was for $1,000, and will cover the costs of the plans for the center.

"The finest little theatre in the county," is one of the things the citizens hope to develop with the help of the new facilities. Rehersal rooms, meeting rooms, museum rooms and display rooms will add to the cultural facilities of the city.

The auditorium of the old school will be remodelled to be adequate for the ambitious little theatre plan.

Additionally, councilmen awarded a $100,000 construction contract to the Healy Tibbetts company to begin the first unit of work on the city's new smallcraft harbor at the end of Butler road.

The company's bid of $832,000 for the job was the lowest of five submitted.

Work is scheduled to begin this week.

Paul Frangos In US Air Force

Airman third class Paul Frangos, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Y. Frangos of 18 San Felipe avenue, South San Francisco, is being assigned to Beale AFB, Calif., following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for radar operators at Keesler AFB, Mississippi.

Airman Frangos was taught to operate the semi-automatic ground environment system (SAGE) and other radar systems.

The airman is a graduate of South San Francisco High School.

George Washington Kids Give Yule Play

"Christmas Around the World" was the play Miss Gail Hultgren's fifth grade put on for assembly Friday at George Washington Eelementary grade school.

Fred Schweickhardt read a telegram from the Red Cross thanking the school for the favors and place mats made by the children for Thanksgiving. Student body president Ronald Hampton presided over the assembly.

PRESIDENT DISAGREES

At this point the president of the rapid transit district, Adrien J. Falk, leaped to his feet to disagree:

"These suggestions . . . do not express the opinion of our board. Most of these proposals have been considered by the board and rejected as not feasible."

Casey claims the project can be modified before the April 26-May 25 period when the supervisors can legally withdraw from the district.

Another opinion came from Howard Looney, president of the San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce who urged that the plan be submitted to county voters before a decision is reached.

C. Julian Wheeler, president of the Town Hall Association, and recent speaker on the project at the Daly City City Hall, represented his organization's 2,000 members, and urged immediate withdrawal from the district.

The Supervisors are expected to announce their decision at their December 19 meeting.

Reddy answers "most asked" questions about

electric blankets

Q. Do you really sleep better with an electric blanket?

A. Almost everyone does. An electric blanket spreads just the right warmth evenly over the entire bed. And with just one light covering, there's no "blanket wrasslin' " . . . you sleep soundly, wake up refreshed!

Q. How do you control the warmth?

A. An electric blanket lets you dial the sleeping comfort that suits you best. Just turn the blanket on each night—the control does the rest, automatically maintaining the temperature you set.

Q. What about dual controls?

A. You can buy an electric blanket for a double bed with two controls—one control for each half of the blanket. This way, husband and wife can each select the sleeping comfort desired.

Q. How do you make a bed with an electric blanket?

A. Some models have contour corners for perfect fit. Others spread across the bed like an ordinary blanket. Either way, bedmaking is easier with just one blanket.

Q. Can they be washed?

A. Yes—just follow the manufacturer's instructions. Made of cotton, rayon, nylon and the new synthetic fibers, they dry soft, fluffy and ready to spread.

Q. What sizes are available?

A. You can get "twin," "double" and "king" size (twice twin-bed size). Both single and dual controls are available on double bed sizes.

Q. How much does an electric blanket cost?

A. Cost varies with size and quality, but the average price is $20. And, of course, you need only one electric blanket, no matter how cold it gets.

Q. What does it cost to operate?

A. About a penny a night, thanks to PG&E's bargain rates for electricity—a mighty small price for a good night's sleep!

For the Man Who Has Too Much of Everything

JUNIOR MINSTRELS — The finest tradition of selfless Christmas spirit will be carried out by these Daly City youngsters, who will travel to Agnew State Hospital, near Sunnyvale, Satorday, Dec. 16, to perform a one-hoor minstrel show for the "shut-ins" of the big state institution. Pupils of Daniel Webster or Pauline M. Brown Elementary sihools, the children are all residents of St. Francis Heights. Left to right are Cindy Grasberger, Christine Drocco, Barbara Wasserman and Candace Gallmann. Kneeling is Sheldon Levy. Part of a company of 30 students of the St. Francis Heights Dance and Music Studio, they have performed gratis Christmas shows for the Little Sisters of the Poor, Jewish Home for the Aged, Salvation Army and other worthy institutions during the past fortnight. They'll perform a special show for mom and dad at Daniel Webster School auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 23, and if a busy schedule will permit, tour Westlake and St. Francis Heights singing Christmas carols.

Here and There — -

By Aitch Peebe

It Wasn't So!

A San Mateo County daily newspaper, in its Tuesday, Dec. 12, issue, carried a story that was the direct opposite of the facts. In an article concerning Daly City, it was stated that the city council moved ahead in the controversial Christen Ranch annexation, gave it the "Go" signal and instructed the city attorney to proceed with the necessary legal steps to bring the territory into the city limits.

Ye, gods! It isn't true!

The city council definitely turned thumbs down on the proposed annexation at their Monday night meeting. They closed the hearings on said matter and definitely stated they would NOT proceed on the annexation.

Reporters do make mistakes, but hardly ever one of this magnitude. What happened?

Let's Keep The Park Unhampered

We, as a city, have only one park—Marchbanks Park—that serves the entire city as a recreation area for children, as a baseball park, and various and sundry athletic events for all. To allow any encroachment that would hamper this area is unthinkable.

Lately, several approachments have been made to the city council to allow commercial development contiguous to the park—the idea being that it would not interfere with the normal usage of the park. Well, is this correct?

Seems that any commercial development of any kind next to the park would in some way directly affect usage of the park in one way or another.

Any commercial development will bring more traffic, a headache in itself, and must detract to some extent from the main purpose of the park—recreation for the entire city.

We have had this park for a long time—are proud of it—and we need it. Let's keep it as it is, free from any encroachments or encumbrances.

Do It Right!

At Monday night's council meeting, one irate citizen had a real "gripe" to air. Seems that some of the necessary patchwork to keep the streets in the older section of town in repair do not hold up at all, and, according to said irate citizen, are a waste of time and effort.

Seems as if these streets, if to be kept in top shape, should be completely resurfaced if they are to withstand the wear and tear of modern traffic. A patch job just doesn't hold up for any length of time and seems a complete waste of both money and labor.

What we really need is to resurface all of the old roads and streets and then keep them in first-class shape at all times.

The Rains Came

Residents on Beechwood drive and Montrose avenue are up in arms over recent flood conditions at their homes. Basements were flooded and filled with water for quite a time during the recent heavy rains. Twenty-two signatures appeared on a petition to the city council to alleviate said flood conditions.

The petitioners asked for sewer line improvement and immediate action on the part of the city.

City Engineer Chapman thinks said conditions can be improved and the flooding controlled.

But who wants to drown, swim, or even slosh around in a flooded basement at any time—or be on the anxious side day and night in fear of water invading other portions of the house?

Let's hope the city powers-that-be can take care of this problem immediately to the entire satisfaction of the 22 "dampened" citizens.

Turn On The Mike!

City Hall being what it is—probably the poorest on the entire Peninsula acoustically—the need for and use of a public address system is a necessity if all attending meetings in the council chambers are to hear what is said and done.

We admit that the system is there and sometimes it works, but at other times it doesn't. Could be that all it needs is a little adjustment—like more voltage, more amperage or just merely more usage.

Many citizens who attempt to address the city council and the other citizens in attendance at the meetings cannot be heard at all. Even the councilmen and other city officials who make use of this equipment quite frequently seem to have trouble making themselves heard.

Can't something be done to see that all remarks made by citizens and councilmen be plainly heard by all present?

JIGSAW PUZZLE

For years the people have heard Congress talk about revising the federal tax system, but the only result is more and more complicated laws and administrative rulings by the Internal Revenue Service.

Even a small business and many individuals require a lawyer or public accountant to make out federal income tax returns. This amounts to an addition to the tax load.

Commenting on our jigsaw puzzle, federal tax system, columnist David Lawrence said "that national growth is being impeded . . . and even discouraged" by it, and that "the greatest obstacle to national growth is the federal government itself, aided and abetted by demagogic politicans and narrow-visioned economic advisers in the government."

"The twentieth century political liberalism (so-called) in the United States thrives on depression. Being political, its base is governmental action, including a wide variety of federal paternalism."

Goodwill Wants Discarded Toys

Christmas Goodwill is prevalent in the workrooms of Goodwill Industries these days. There as great activity, especially in the toy department where discarded bikes, wagons and doll buggies are being repainted and repaired.

Working on the repair project are the disabled men and women for whom there is no place in competitive industry. To keep their willing hands occupied, the Goodwill Industries is asking for almost anything discarded from daily use in your home: old clocks, toasters and small electrical appliances.

The crying need, however, is for wooden furniture—that old desk gathering dust in the basement, bookcases or tables.

The workers are waiting to brighten up your discards and ready them for use. If you have a donation to make, telephone DI 3-2507 and a truck will be at your home within a day. In this way, you will help make a joyous Christmas for the 275 handicapped workers, by providing them with self-supporting employment.

1—Some varieties of fruit trees are subject to leaf curl unless sprayed now and again in February. Your nurseryman can recommend a spray.

2—The cool season vegetable garden can be planted still; nurseries usually have small plants of leaf and heading vegetables for transplanting in your garden.

3—The new roses should be all nurseries in time for Christmas. They make wonderful gifts.

4—The tall garden lilies should be planted now. Spring-blooming bulbs may still be set out if you can still find the bulbs.

5—Secure canes of climbing roses and the trunks of tree roses against possible trouble from strong winds this winter.

City Is Fine, $$$ Wise

The city of Daly City ended up 1961 with an "excellent financial picture," according to Robert E. Hunter, city auditor.

A balanced budget and $122,000 excess was experienced, mostly because the city spent $72,000 less than anticipated and received more money than anticipated on sales and in lieu taxes, city manager Edward Frank said.

The View From ..Behind The Badge

Written and Edited by Daly City Police Department

PATROL: ONE OR TWO MEN?

One of the controversial subjects in police work is that of one-man versus two-man patrol. Opinions are divided on this subject in almost all jurisdictions. Let's talk about radio cars on patrol, and whether these vehicles should be crewed by one or two officers.

THE ONE-MAN CAR

When this method is employed, more vehicles are made available for patrol. Patrol areas can be half the size as before. The distance to any incident is thus cut in half.

Because the individual officer has fewer distractions (such as non-pertinent conversation with his partner) he can and does spend more time on patrol activities. He can also cover his area with greater efficiency and dispatch because of his reduced patrol area.

Statistically speaking, the lone officer is actually safer than he would be if he were paired with a brother officer. The single officer knows that he is alone, and as a result will be more alert for the unexpected. Men sometimes are not cautious when working with a partner for fear of being called a coward; the other side of the same coin is that each man sometimes is overly-dependant upon his partner.

The lone radio car patrolman is responsible for his own safety, just as is the lone foot patrolman—and the radio car man has the advantage of having a radio over which he can summon assistance.

With one-man cars, maintenance costs will rise—but police service increases without employment of additional personnel. This is an important factor, inasmuch as salaries account for about 85 per cent of the police budget. We can therefore increase police services for the price of $1,800 per vehicle and equipment, plus maintenance and insurance costs; this, as opposed to a $5,000 per year officer, plus his retirement and sick benefit costs, and his loss of work time as the result of illness, vacation, and normal days off.

More patrol in a smaller area will allow better observation, and the increased frequency of patrol has the effect of a crime deterrent.

Some disadvantages of the one-man car follow: A police officer may have to assume greater risks. It is difficult to drive, operate the radio and to observe properly (all three functions are really full-time jobs). Transportation of arrested persons is more difficult. It is more hazardous and difficult to effect an arrest.

THE TWO-MAN CAR

There is more opportunity for observation. The driver can operate the vehicle while his partner can observe and operate the radio. It is easier to investigate accidents and serious incidents. The automobile is in service for longer periods of time.

It is more economical to maintain one car on the street as opposed to two cars—but it is less economical (in terms of dollars and cents) to maintain two men where one man can function.

Disadvantages are also present. Distraction may be present, and a personality clash is quite possible. Patrol areas are often too large. Too much dependence upon a reliable partner may lead to carelessness and a lack of caution.

There may be a lack of harmony between the officers as to who writes the report and who gets the credit, and so forth. Do we drive with the windows open or closed, with the heater on or off? Do we effect this arrest or let him off with a warning?

WHICH IS USED MORE?

Statistics show that more jurisdictions use one-man cars than use two-man cars. However, in most cases a combination of the two is used. Each type of patrol has, as we have seen, advantages and disadvantages peculiar to it. Every department has its own special problems that have to be analyzed before a decision is reached.

Where the combination is used, the two-man car is often employed during the night and early morning hours; in stormy weather; on special assignments; in transporting prisoners; in investigating accidents. Where this applies, the one-man car is used in individual patrol sections.

BEGINNINGS OF PATROL

Before the advent of mobile patrol, our primary source of protection came from the foot patrolman, walking. He was, and is, sometimes known as the "beat man." At the beginning this provided adequate protection. The assigned areas were small and assistance could be obtained by some form of a physical signal—whistle, gun shot, rapping of the night stick upon the pavement.

As population increased, so did the size of the patrol area. When physical signals lost their effectiveness because of this situation, it sometimes became necessary to pair men for mutual protection and assistance. This method is still used today in congested areas that require foot patrolmen.

When motorized patrols were introduced, they were at first used as an adjunct to the foot patrol concept. "Riot squads" and the like were designed to

Tree - Lined Streets Are More Pleasant

It's ever so much more pleasant to live on a street lined with trees. They add a certain stateliness to the neighborhood and a uniformity that ties one end of a block to the other—one block to the next, as well as providing needed shade in the hot summer months.

There are good and bad street tree plantings, however, and the bad ones are usually bad because they cause trouble. The trees are too large, need constant pruning to preserve the power lines overhead, or their roots have buckled sidewalks and encroached on sewer pipes. A little extra thought at planting time could have avoided such unfortunate facts.

Today, there are many communities which regulate street planting — designating a selected list of trees that may be planted. And in many cities, the street departments will actually do the planting for you, once your choice of tree has been made. This is worth looking into.

Whether regulated by ordinance or not, the planting of any street should be carefully worked out by the residents affected. Questions to be decided on include: Are the trees to be evergreen? Deciduous? Are flowering trees preferred to non-flowering varieties? Is fall color desired? A local member of the California Association of Nurserymen can be consulted about the different possibilities.

Good evergreen types to consider are: The sturdy camphor tree, southern magnolia or the more compact St. Mary's magnolia, red flowering gum. Deciduous trees are more plentiful: Sweet gum is fine in fall, as is the maidenhair tree.

Then there are Modesto ash, fruitless mulberry and the European white bark birch, among others. For flowers especially: The purpleleaf plum is one of the earliest to flower. Goldenrain tree and Paul's scarlet hawthorne are both widely used. The flowering Japanese cherries are excellent in north coastal areas, especially. There are many others but these have won their spurs through many years of use in California. No doubt they will continue as star performers in years to come.

CLASSROOMS FOR COLMA

Four bids for a six classroom addition to Colma upper school at 601 Market street, Daly City, were rejected as being in excess of the state allocation for the school by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary school district on Dec. 4.

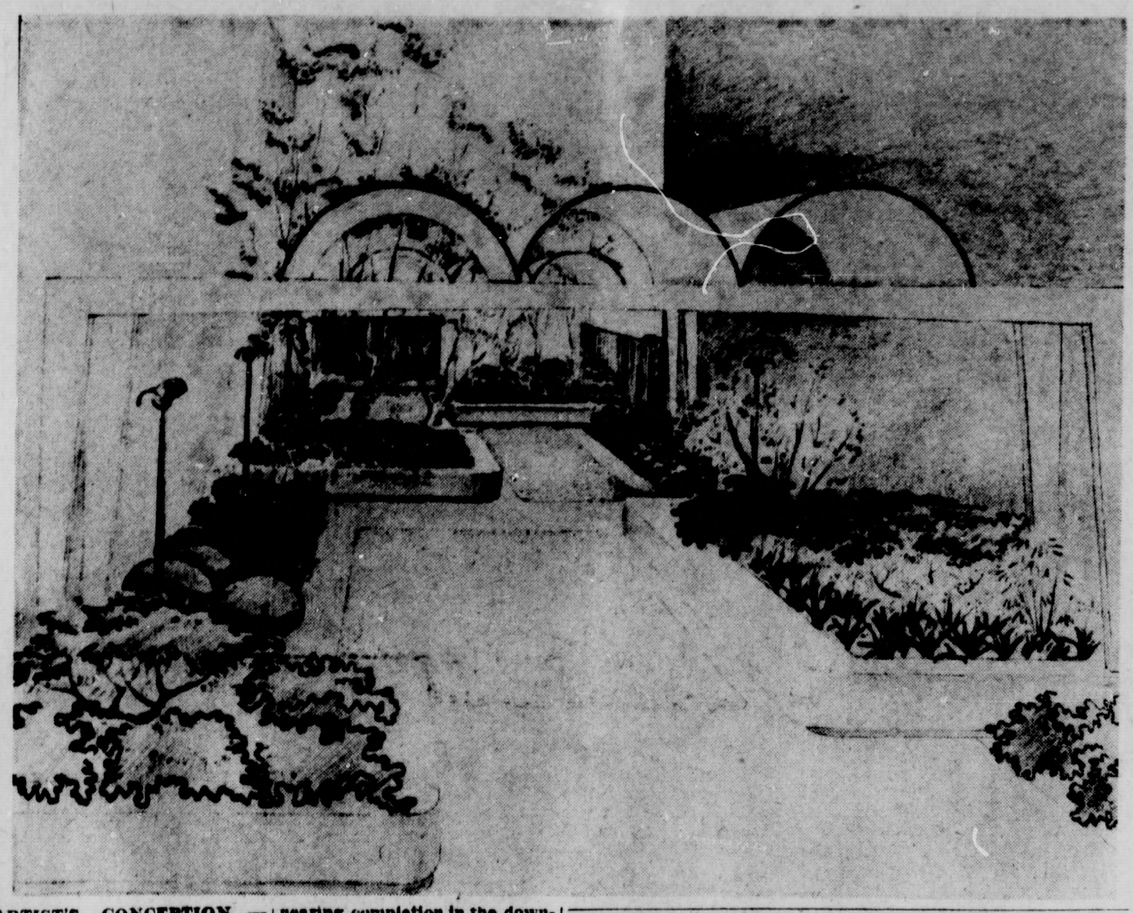
Plans for the addition, which also include a multi-purpose room, locker and shower facilities and an addition to the school office are to be redrafted. Bids ranged from $499,099 to $545,041, while the state had allowed only $442,138 for the project.

Trustees authorized Superintendent of Schools Richard L. Foster to obtain preliminary proposals to purchase seven lots for an addition to Woodrow Wilson school at 43 Miriam street. It is estimated that the lots will cost some $75,000.

Square Dance Club Entertains Novices

The Bronco Busters Square Dance Club will hold its annual Newer Dancers Christmas Hoedown on Saturday evening, Dec. 16, at 8 o'clock., in the Lakeshore School auditorium, 220 Middlefield drive, San Francisco.

This will be for newer square dancers with ten or more weeks of instruction and a lively and fun-packed evening has been planned. Dave Byers, club caller, will be master of ceremonies and many pleasant surprises are in store for those attending. The public is invited.



ARTIST'S CONCEPTION — The City of South San Francisco is doing something new and different in the field of city beautification. The community's new landscaped pedestrian walkway is now rapidly nearing completion in the downtown area. The walkway, located just off the city's main downtown street, will provide the pedestrian with a pleasant journey for his walk to and from one of the recently opened municipal parking lots.

FIRE FACTS

(Editor's Note: This column is written by Daly City firemen and will be published in this newspaper weekly with the main purpose of informing the public of pertinent information about their Fire Department.)

The public, unfortunately, has many misconceptions regarding a fireman's duties. The old jokes and stories about fireman card tables, and television, have led to an almost universal feeling that a fireman just sits around the firehouse and polishes the engine.

This is untrue in our city, and probably most cities of our size. However, many larger cities, such as San Francisco and Oakland, do have lighter work schedules because of the extra manpower they have.

A fireman in Daly City has a definite work schedule to adhere to during the daylight hours.

The first two hours each morning are donated to maintenance of the station and equipment. This includes a thorough cleaning of the station, and a careful check of all fire fighting apparatus and equipment. From 10 a.m. to 12 noon every day a drill takes place at Central Station on Lake Merced boulevard. Drills are usually on the practical application of the many specialized "tools of the trade" that every fireman must know and understand.

After the noon meal every man in each of the three stations is given a specific work detail. These work details consist of the following:

1.—String and replace fire alarm wire on P.G.&E. poles.

2.—Clean, oil, paint and grease fire hydrants.

3.—Clean, oil, paint and test fire alarm boxes.

4.—Make commercial and residential fire prevention inspections.

5.—Maintain lawns, shrubbery and grounds of the firehouses.

6.—Periodically paint the interior and exterior of the firehouse.

7.—Perform minor repairs on the fire-fighting apparatus.

8.—Wash all hose, roof and salvage covers used at fires and annually test all fire department hose.

9.—Carry out clerical responsibilities.

10.—And finally, during the summer months, it is necessary to burn vacant lots and large grass areas.

While working away from the station, the men are always in touch with the station through the two-way radio on the fire unit being worked from and can respond to any fire call directly from where they are working.

At 4:30 p.m. all personnel report back to their stations for clean-up and change from their work coveralls to the station uniforms. At 8:30 p.m. it is necessary to check the emergency telephones, fire apparatus, radios and the main fire alarm board by a hoseman of Station No. 2. Last week, Dec. 2-9, 1961, the fire department responded to the following calls:

House fires 1, appliance fires 1, electrical fires 1, automobile fires 2, smoke scares 1, inhalator calls 2, false alarms 4, lockouts 7, miscellaneous 5.

Democrats Will Honor Assembly Speaker Unruh

Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the state assembly, will be honored by North San Mateo County Democrats on Dec. 18. The South San Francisco Democratic Club is sponsoring a dinner meeting for Unruh. Much in the news lately, Unruh was recently elected speaker after serving in the assembly for more than six years.

Unruh has served as chairman of the asesembly committee on Finance and Insurance, chairman of the assembly Committee on Ways and Means, and vice chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee. Following his return from the Navy in 1945, Unruh majored in journalism and political science at the University of California, and was graduated in 1948 as one of five outstanding seniors. He also did graduate work at USC in economics.

Observers are looking forward to Unruh's appearance with great interest. He is immensely popular among Democrats and recognized as one of the most politically powerful California legislators.

Take Care In Planting Of Borders

The trouble with too many border plantings is that too little thought has preceded their planting. Some gardeners seem to consider the border merely as space to be filled, which is what they proceed to do.

In landscape design, the border is one of the most important features in your garden. It defines the garden area, frames it so to speak, and if the frame is wrong, so is the rest of the picture.

SEEK ADVICE

Before planting a shrub border, the inexperienced gardener should drop in on a California Association of Nurserymen member and seek professional advice.

First, however, he should make up a plot drawing of the landscape, showing the relationship between house and lot, indicating fences, existing trees and, of course, existing shrub borders, if there are such things.

Strictly speaking, the shrub border is not entirely that. It will consist not only of shrubs but will include certain choice perennials and even a few bulbs and annuals. Since it is a permanent investment, however, carefully selected shrubs and a few good perennials will make up the main part of the planting. Annuals and bulbs can be spotted for their fleeting color contributions where they won't be too sorely missed at the end of their bloom.

Properly planted, the border is almost a self-perpetuating thing, requiring little pruning and no severe cutting back. With good planning, the result, of course, is shrubs which mature to your size specifications.

SEASONAL COLOR

At maturity, the shrub border will have form, variety and seasonal spots of color. It will have a background of taller shrubs and small trees which taper down gradually to an edging that hugs the ground. It will be most heavily planted in its widest areas, relatively free of shrubs in narrow spots.

Evergreens will be the basic ingredient, but deciduous shrubs should be used for their bursts of bloom. If the property is fenced, the number of shrubs can be reduced and the number of perennials increased to the point where they dominate. These are things to work out with a local CAN member and the season to do it is now—so don't wait.

WESTMOOR HAS XMAS DINNER

More than 600 parents, teachers and students enjoyed the annual Christmas dinner and basketball game sponsored by the Westmoor PTA which was held at the Westmoor High School, Dec. 2. A chicken dinner with all the fixings was enjoyed by all those who attended. Following the dinner, two basketball games highlighted the entertainment for the evening. In the first game the Westmoor Alumni defeated Westmoor Varsity, 67-55. In the feature game of the evening, the highly-touted Westmoor Faculty, coached by Glenn South, principal of Westmoor, regained its PTA championship by defeating the Westmoor Seniors by the score of 56 to 34.

Mrs. Ben Pulsifier, president of the Westmoor PTA, wishes to express her thanks and appreciation to the many parents, teachers and students who attended this annual affair and made it a financial as well as a social success. Without this wholehearted support and participation, the Westmoor PTA Scholarship Fund would not be as successful as it has been. Special thanks go to all the businessmen and organizations who contributed to this worthy cause.

Many thanks are extended to the ways and means co-chairmen, Al Smith and Joseph Mahoney, and their committee chairmen, Fred Adams, Mrs. Walter Baker, Mrs. Thomas Colangelo, Mrs. Roy Johnson, and Mrs. Edward Perry, and their committees for their efforts in planning and executing this successful affair.

Edward Feliciano On Navy Ship Telefair

Edward L. Feliciano, engineman fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Feliciano of 647 Southmoor drive, Pacifica, is serving aboard the attack transport USS Telefair, recommissioned from the reserve fleet on Nov. 22.

The 10,000-ton World War II veteran was taken out of "moth balls" as a part of the recent defense buildup. After overhaul and modernization at Alameda, the Telefair is to join the Atlantic Fleet in January.

Mater Dolorosa Hits Half Way In Drive

The Rev. J. Norman Allen, former assistant at Mother of Perpetual Help in Daly City and now pastor of Mater Dolores in South San Francisco, is currently engaged in a building fund drive for a minimum goal of $200,000. The purpose of the drive is to provide for a new church, school, convent and rectory. Mater Dolores is the result of a large increase of Catholic families in the South San Francisco area. Three existing parishes — St. Veronica's, All Souls and Holy Angels — were divided to form the new parish.

The campaign conducted on a pledge basis will continue through December. Every family in the parish will be visited by campaign workers who number close to 175.

J. Callagy, general chairman, announced the drive has now reached the half way mark at the last report meeting. J. Keegan, memorial gifts chairman, has announced satisfactory results with his phase of the fund raising project.

Division leaders are J. Canepa, S. Stergar, R. Duggan, J. Powers and J. Smith.

Too old to buy insurance?

Being over 65 is no barrier to the purchase of new life insurance. And for many people in their sixties or seventies it can be a very wise "buy."

Here's an example. A man age 75, has a substantial number of investments. At death, estate taxes will have to be paid. To raise the cash, income-producing assets have to be sold, often with severe losses to the beneficiaries. Life insurance can prevent this loss by providing the necessary cash.

Manufacturers Life has a sound reputation for its liberal approach to insuring older people for the purpose of estate conservation or for guaranteeing the continuity of a business. Our representatives are qualified to provide competent counsel to help our senior citizens meet these special needs.

and the foot patrolman in time of need. Later, the sergeant would check his beat men by means of a motorcycle or auto. Eventually, motorized patrol became an accepted thing, but the same problems remained — those of communication.

Two men were usually assigned to a vehicle because no quick method of summoning assistance existed. Call boxes and telephones were there, of course, but they were not carried in the car and could not always be reached in case of emergency.

When radio came into its own, two men were still necessary. Their radios were one-way (that is, the station could transmit to the vehicles, but the vehicles, or the man in them, could not talk back to the station). When two and three-way radio came into being, the one-man car became a possibility and a plausibility, subject only to the other restrictions mentioned above.

WHAT ABOUT DALY CITY?

Records and statistics relative to one-man versus two-man patrol are limited. The Kansas City, Mo., police department claims to be a pioneer in the field of development of the one-man car.

In June, 1953, the one-man patrol system was given a trial by that department. Six months later, the entire department changed over to this type of patrol on a 24-hour basis.

This program was instituted with due consideration for the safety of the police officer, the assignment of work loads, and the thoroughness of operation.

Daly City, likewise, operates on the one-man patrol theory. This department thinks of the vehicle as a tool of the officer. Three-way radio minimizes communications problems. The individual officers are indoctrinated in the philosophy of the one-man patrol.

While it would often be convenient to have two men in a car, it is economical, feasible and efficient, and is practiced and does work, to have one-man patrol cars.

The Daly City Police Department instituted one-man radio car patrol in 1949, and has operated on this basis continuously since that time.

Exceptions, when two men patrol together, occur from time to time. This sometimes happens, as when the sergeant will ride with the individual officer to check the quality of his work, or when a recruit is being instructed by an older officer, or on special details.

The department has successfully maintained the one-man patrol for a period of 12 years. It seems that we have allowed our Kansas City friends the claiming of this pioneering distinction through our modesty, in that we have not made known this early-formed policy of our department.

The Daly City police now claim their fair share of credit in this matter.

PERSONNEL GLIMPSES

Patrolman Stephen Steen, now at home recovering from an appendectomy, has been an officer in this department for five years. Prior to this time he was a civilian clerk dispatcher with the department for one year. Steve, who is a graduate lawyer, is currently assigned to a radio car section on the Second Platoon.

Clark Chester, civilian clerk dispatcher, now has one year with the department. Clark is assigned to the Third Platoon graveyard watch.

Sousa, C. Cresalia, A. B. Zweig, J., H. Peterson, J. Johnson, C. Bloom, Oliver Brown, S. Sullivan, J. M. Hamblin, S. Eliachar, and A. I. Fambrini.

Captains and volunteer workers are needed. If you are interested in helping will you call Mrs. Plansky, PL 5-6349 or Mrs. Berry, WY 2-0153.

Santa To Visit Vista Grande School

Santa Claus is coming to Vista Grande School on Dec. 15.

This will be an exciting day of class parties for the children, and Santa will visit each class to distribute pre-Christmas treats.

These same children will participate in the PTA's annual Christmas program to be held on the previous evening, Dec. 14, at 8 p. m. in the school's multi-use room.

Vista Mar School News

The students in Miss Marca Evan's third grade are presenting book reports to classmates.

Giving book reports is a usual activity in classrooms, but Miss Evan's boys and girls are more eager than most to share their report because of the unusual method of reporting.

The children select a character from the book they have read and then make a paper bag puppet of that character. The puppet character then is the one who tells about the book.

Boys and girls in Don Knudsen's third and fourth grade, too, are making puppets to enhance the reading and re-reading of the stories in their basic readers. Two groups of children are using marionettes to re-tell stories and another group is working on shadow puppets to tell their story.

In both classes the children are enjoying their experience of learning to read by sharing in an unusual manner the plot, character, and sequence of events in this enrichment experience.

Vista Mar School radiates the spirit of Xmas not only in environment but in the values of giving as well.

The result of the "Toys for Tots" collection resulted in an unusually large contribution by students of Vista Mar.

The Christmas program presented Tuesday, Dec. 12, opened with an original welcome poem written by Michele Seesee and Susan Thomas who also announced each number on the program. "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" by the Gleen Club opened the program, followed by the 12 p.m. kindergarten classes singing "I'm A Little Pine Tree."

The Glee Club, with bell soloist Glenn Bjorkquist, then presented "Merry Are the Bells." "Rudolph, The Red Nose Reindeer," was interpreted by the first grades, and was then followed by a most appropriate "Jingle Bells" by the glee club.

"Carol of the Drums" and "Six White Boomers" with appropriate costumes was then presented by the second grade classes. The glee club number "Oh Come Little Children" was sung, followed by the fourth grades choral speaking and musical accompaniment "Christmas in Other Lands." Fifth graders presented "We Three Kings," and "Oh, Hanukah" together with the dance "The Hora." The program closed with the Glee Club song "We Wish You A Merry Xmas."

Announcers Michele Seesee and Susan Thomas then gave their final original poem of extending "Season' Greetings" from the Vista Mar Student Body and Staff.

The Christmas program to be presented to the Vista Mar PTA has had parent participation this year.

Since one of the songs is in recognition of Hanukah, students in Mrs. Angeline Friedman's and Miss Harriet Gel's fifth grades were taught the Hora, by Mrs. Clifford Glicksman. The Hora will be danced by the two groups to accompany the song "Oh Hanukah."

Other numbers on the program scheduled for 12:45 p.m., Tuesday, Dec. 12, will be the favorite Christmas carols by individual grade groups in the school and special glee club numbers in keeping with the season.

Attractive invitational programs have been sent to parents. The cover was illustrated by James Torlakson, fifth grade student, while Veronica Acton illustrated the special invitation sent home to parents of the 8:30 a.m. kindergarten. The latter program is scheduled to be presented at 10:15 a.m., Wednesday, Dec. 13.

This is Vista Mar's staff and Student Body's greeting to say — "May your Christmas be Merry and your New Year Happy."

Pacific Manor School Plans Xmas Party

A Christmas party will be given to the children of Pacific Manor School on Dec. 15 by the PTA.

The party is planned by the room mothers in each class and goodies will include candy, cookies and ice cream.

Room mothers will be busy making favors for the children. This will be the first of two parties planned for this term. The party takes place the last hour of school.

Children will also enjoy the beautiful tree in the community room that is purchased and decorated each year by the PTA. It will be on display from the sixth until the beginning of Christmas vacation.

WWI Barracks Hold Dec. 19 Meet

The December meeting of WWI Barracks and Ladies Auxiliary of Daly City, 1620, will be held Dec. 19, at the Community Center Building, Mission at Alps street at 6:30 p.m.

A pot luck dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary, and a short business session of the Barracks and the Auxiliary will be held.

At 8 p.m. surprise entertainment will include group singing of Christmas carols and an exchange of gifts by the members (not to exceed $1).

All members and their families are invited to attend.

Pageant Planned By Presbyterian Church

The Christmas story as recorded in the Bible from Abraham to the coming of Christ will be given as a pageant by the Sunday School departments of the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church on Sunday, December 17, at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary.

The program committee is Mrs. Floyd Hicks, Mrs. John Cuniberti, Mrs. Robert McBride and Mrs. Herbert Tweedie. Each pupil is bringing a staple food article to be given to other people in need. The Voyagers Mariners, the church couples organization, will give candy gifts to all pupils present.

A week from Sunday, a Christmas Eve Candlelight Carol Service will be held from 11 p.m. to midnight. The public is invited to these services according to Rev. Herbert Tweedie, pastor.

Christmas Luncheon By Women Christians

A Christmas luncheon will be served to members and friends of the Women's Society of Christian Service, St. Paul's Methodist Church, by the Dorcas Circle, Mrs. H. F. Burkwall, chairman, on Wednesday, Dec. 20, at 12 noon. Honor guests will be the president and vice president of the South San Francisco Woman's Club, Mrs. Fred Sneed and Mrs. Ralph Marcus.

Following the luncheon, the regular monthly meeting will be held. Mrs. Victor Landers, president, announces that plans are going forward for a fashion show to be staged in March.

The program, "A Christmas Card," will be presented by Ruth Circle, Mrs. J. H. Harris, chairman.

Shopping For A Gardener Is Easy

Finding the right gift for the right person is always a problem—unless you're shopping for a gardener. In that case you can never go wrong in buying something for his garden. A plant, a garden book, a container (preferably with a plant in it), a gadget—these are all things that will gladden the gardener's heart on Christmas morning.

Bought In Bloom

Even your non-gardening friends will appreciate a nicely potted house plant under their tree. It doesn't take a green thumber to enjoy a blooming azalea, cyclamen, chrysanthemum or African violet. All these and others can be bought in bloom from local nurseries, according to the California Association of Nurserymen.

For the serious gardener, something big and showy is in order—a bloom-heavy camellia, perhaps, or a rhododendron. The latter won't bloom until spring, but it's a gift to make any gardener jump for joy. On the other hand, a check with your friend's spouse might indicate that certain other shrubs are closer to the perfect gift. Possibly some accent shrubs such as dwarf citrus or bamboo for planting in a container on the deck or at the front door.

The owner of a newly built house will appreciate the gift of a choice young tree. Flowering trees, especially, are likely to please—a flowering crabapple or dogwood, or maybe a saucer magnolia.

Garden Gadgetry

In the line of garden gadgetry, there are so many things that many gardeners always need but never get around to buying for themselves. Some we know are forever borrowing a neighbor's electric hedge clippers, or his spray tank or his garden cart to haul something in.

As for books, a pruning guide can be mighty handy and timely, too, since the season when pruning should begin is already with us. And while you're at it, you might make yourself the same gift. Pruning is one of gardening's most important skills and it could stand far more study than most people have given it.

Temple Judea News Briefs

Mitchell Mann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Mann, will become a Bar Mitzvah this Friday night, Dec. 15, 8:30 p.m., at the Westlake Community Baptist Church, Southgate Ave. and Elmwood Dr. Rabbi Robert W. Shapiro and Cantor Harold Wachter will officiate, with Dr. W. Leonard Beck, Organist, and the Temple Choir. Members and friends of Congregation Judea are cordially invited to attend the Service and the reception following.

Please phone Mrs. Martin Rosenblatt, MI 7-0787, or Mrs. Nathan Sternsher, LO 4-4469, to arrange pick-up.

Paul R. Zingrich On Carrier Oriskany

Paul R. Zingrich, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer L. Zingrich of 268 Campana avenue, Daly City, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Orisany, operating out of San Diego.

The ship returned to San Diego this fall following a five-month overhaul period in San Francisco. It is now operating as a unit of the First Fleet off the coast of Southern California.

BUT WHY DO I HAVE TO ANNOUNCE THE MILLIONTH FALCON? I'M NO PUBLIC SPEAKER..I NEVER CAN REMEMBER WHAT I'M SUPPOSED TO SAY!
JUST KEEP IN MIND WHY OVER A MILLION FALCONS HAVE BEEN SOLD..THINGS LIKE LOW PRICE.. GAS SAVINGS..
"GENTLEMEN AND LADIES! FALCON FORD HAS..I CAN'T DO IT! IT'S TOO HARD ON MY NERVOUS SYSTEM..
LOOK...DO YOU KNOW WHAT THIS IS?
IT'S YOUR FIST..
ALL RIGHT, NOW WHAT WAS IT YOU WANTED TO SAY?
"LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, I TAKE GREAT PLEASURE IN ANNOUNCING THAT IN TWO SHORT YEARS OVER ONE MILLION FALCONS HAVE BEEN SOLD: THIS REPRESENTS THE GREATEST SUCCESS IN MODERN AUTOMOTIVE HISTORY! THANK YOU FOR YOUR KIND ATTENTION!"
WHEW! I DID IT! BOY, WHAT A RELIEF! IT'S ALL OVER!
I TELL YOU I DON'T WANT TO HAVE TO GO THROUGH AN ORDEAL LIKE THAT AGAIN AS LONG AS I LIVE!
WHAT'S THIS?
THIS IS THE SPEECH YOU HAVE TO LEARN WHEN FORD SELLS TWO MILLION FALCONS!
OH, NO! I CAN'T STAND IT! I JUST CAN'T STAND IT!

Better make him learn that second speech, Lucy . . . he's going to need it in a hurry! In fact, the way people are buying Falcons (last month was the hottest November in Ford history!) public speaking could become his lifelong career! People love Falcon. They've already bought a million of 'em—more than twice as many cars as most other compacts have sold. And today, they're buying more Falcons than ever . . . because Falcon has more than ever to offer! Today's Falcon gives you an improved version of the famous Falcon Six—the engine that set a new record for a Six or Eight in the 25-year history of the Mobilgas Economy Run! Today's Falcon goes 6,000 miles between oil changes. You also get a bigger choice of models: there are 13 different Falcons . . . different except for the dependability that's standard in every quality-built Falcon. But best of all—for you—is the one thing about Falcon that hasn't changed. The very first Falcon was America's lowest-priced* 6-passenger car. So is today's.

NURSERYMEN TALK ABOUT XMAS TREES

The idea of a living Christmas tree indoors appeals to every member of the family. Not only can it be brought in and decorated each Holiday season, but it can be enjoyed as a tubbed specimen on deck or patio for the rest of the year.

Such a tree obviously saves time and money in the long run, and its initial cost (which is not much more than a cut tree) is written off in the first year or two. Beyond this, you have the other great advantage of freshness—an advantage you will really appreciate only when you take your tree down and out in the same condition you brought it in.

Many people like the idea of their Christmas tree growing up with the family. Children, especially, will enjoy having the same tree year after year and most of them will have to be restrained from bringing it in weeks before Christmas Day.

Many conifers are suitable for container growth and even the tallest of them, such as Norway Spruce will be reusable for several year. As every gardener knows, containers have an inhibiting effect on the growth of any shrub.

Drop in on a California Association of Nurserymen member this week or next and check over his supply of conifers in containers. The spruces — the delicately blue Colorado Spruce or Norway Spruce — will catch your eye for their typical Christmas tree look. The densely foliaged Dwarf Alberta Spruce makes an attractive tree, but seek only the larger specimen. Even at maturity these little spruces are rarely more than head high.

The use of long-needle pines has become popular in recent years and for this the Monterey Pine is a good choice because of its bushy, conical shape when young. It's a fast grower, though, so you can't count on too many years for it in the tub. Scotch Pine has shorter needles than Monterey Pine and a similar bushy habit makes it suited as a Christmas tree.

There are dozens of different conifers for you to choose from, but don't wait too long to shop for them. Supply thins out as the big day approaches.

the Great Books speak to Today...

The Carping Critic

Grant me patience, just Heaven! Of all the cants which are canted in this canting world—though the cant of the hypocrites may be the worst—the can of criticism is the most tormenting!

—LAURENCE STERNE

The great contention of criticism is to find the faults of the moderns and the beauties of the ancients. While an author is yet living we estimate his powers by his worst performance, and when he is dead we rate them by his best.

—SAMUEL JOHNSON

These critics being men of shallow capacities, very easily mistook mere form for substance. They acted as a judge would, who should adhere to the lifeless letter of law, and reject the spirit.

—HENRY FIELDING

Men of great talents, whether poets or historians, seldom escape the attacks of those who, without ever favoring the world with any production of their own, take delight in criticizing the work of others.

—MIGUEL DE CERVANTES

HOW SAFE IS YOUR CAR?

Safety inspection of the car doesn't end with testing the brakes and greasing the steering gear, warns the National Automobile Club.

Safety inspection has to do with every part of the car, including the battery, the carburetor, and the electric wiring. A dead battery would prevent you from going into low gear and using the starter-motor to pull the car off the tracks should the engine stall on a grade crossing. An unreliable carburetor, or one adjusted for too lean a mixture, would fail you when sudden acceleration was essential. Neglected wiring carries the possibility of having a fuse blow out some night when you're driving along the highway, leaving you in total darkness.

How safe is your car?

The island of Borneo in the Malay Archipelago has an area of 293,496 square miles, almost twice the size of California.

Louis Guillory On Carrier Enterprise

Louis Guillary, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Guillory of 251 Peoria street, Daly City, is serving with the crew that placed the world's frist nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, USS Enterprise, in commission. Colorful commissioning ceremonies were held Nov. 25 at Newport News, Va.

The ship is the world's largest moving structure — 1,123 feet long, 257 feet wide and more than 85,000 tons in displacement. It is powered by eight nuclear reactors, developing more than 200,000 horsepower, and is capable of speeds in excess of 40 mph.

The Enterprise is the eighth American ship to bear the name, which dates back to the Revolutionary War.

The ship is scheduled to begin a shakedown cruise in February, after which it will join the Atlantic Fleet.

LOTS OF POWER IN A GALLON OF GAS

Take a gallon of gasoline, stretch it out over 15 miles, and you'll get, according to the National Automobile Club, a thin little thread about the diameter of a hair from a horse's tail.

Put that same gallon of gas into the tank of your 3,000 pound car, load yourself and your family into the car, and that gallon of gas will carry you for 15 miles with the greatest of ease.

That's how much power the petroleum people have built into that explosive little thread.

Peruvian Tenor Luigi Alva A Smash Success in New York

"Make way for an exciting young tenor!" Thus began a review in the New York Herald Tribune of the first recital of the Peruvian bel canto tenor, Luis Alva, in New York.

For the young singer, his debut in Judson Hall in October completed a long musical journey from Lima, Peru to New York City in Horatio Alger style. In 1953, as the employee of an oil company in his native Lima, Alva decided to make the difficult jump to professional ranks. With the help of International Petroleum Company, Alva went to Italy and settled down to study with Emilio Ghirardini.

Success was soon his as the singer—now known professionally as "Luigi" Alva — was signed by the famed La Scala Opera in Milan. Since then he has appeared, to rave critical reviews, in Covent Garden and the Glyndebourne Festival in England, the Salzburg Festival in Austria, and in Dallas. But the high point of his career was his New York appearance in a concert sponsored by his former company.

Commenting on the concert, Alan Rich wrote in the New York Times: "Merely as a display of vocal prowess it was well-nigh perfect. It would be hard to imagine a more beautifully centered voice, or a better technique for putting it to proper use".

He will be heard this month too in several operatic performances in Dallas and Chicago.

DC Council To Meet Dec. 26

The next regular meeting of the Daly City Council will be held at 8 p. m. on Dec. 26, the day following Christmas, it was announced at city hall.

WHY WEATHERMAN CAN BE WRONG

California shouldn't expect too much from long range weather forecasts on our Pacific Coast.

Weathermen in inland states, points out the National Automobile Club, can make better batting averages in these things than our men can because weathermen in inland states get important information rom the states lying to the west.

Out here, however, we have only the Pacific Ocean to the west and there are large areas there where no ship plows and no solitary weather vessel bobs. In these "blind" areas a storm can whip itself up and rush in on us all unexpected. And then the weatherman is wrong again.

So don't depend too much on these long range weather forecasts. They can be wrong just as often as not.

South City Honor Roll Is Announced

A total of 123 students earned a place on South San Francisco's honor roll, according to Principal Louis Bagnall. Of that number, 27 are on the "A" honor roll, having received at least 15 of a possible 18 grade points.

Eight more students made the "A" honor roll this time over the number achieving that distinction during the first six week grading period.

On the "B" honor roll are: Carol Abaler, Madeline Albonico, Piret Amek, Linda Baker, Terry Bersie, Lawrence Bissen, Osbjorn Berstene, Sally Bretz, Barbara Bresnsk, Barry Burkard, Kathleen Burns, Barbara Burry, Grey Byrd, John Canabou, Juanita Candelaria, Jayne Capetosto, Judy Cassidy, Virginia Church, Hark Cooper, Joanne Davitt, Dianne Davis, John De Graf, Susan Dillon, Raymond Eli, Patricia Fawthrop, Jerry Fest, Sandra Forris, Marilyn Finacom, Margaret Fitch, Patricia Flores, Christine Folsom, Catherine Frediani, Janice Furber, Bruce Grantham and Harry Griffin.

Also listed were Pauline Hamel, Suzanne Harris, Patrick Hart, Dave Healy, Mark Howard, Judie Iler, Richard John, Carolyn Judd, Mariann Kimbrell, Andre Klein, Christine Kniedt, Al Lagomarzino, John Larson, Marilyn Lovine, Larry Lewis, Lynn Lewis, Darlene Lim, Michael Lowe, Dianne McDonalyd, Alice McGrayne, Hall McNovin, Sue Mass, Rodger Magill, Bill Maloney, Jack Martinez, Karen May, Robert Mazzei, Bruno Mori, Sharon Mullen, Eugene Nelson, Steven Norney, Phillip Nicholls, Jo Ann Nixon, Robert Olander, Sue Orcutt, Dee Anne Paron, Pamela Pierson, Patricia Preston, Judy Ricond, David Riley and Janet Robertson.

IT'S THE DIES THAT DO IT

If you've ever given a close look at the sweeping lines of your fenders or hood you've probably given a close thought to the way all these graceful and often intricate curves are shaped out of the solid steel.

It's all done with dies, according to the National Automobile Club, great iron and steel dies mounted in even greater presses.

Some of these presses are four stories high, weigh up to 500 tons, can exert a pressure of up to 3,000 tons, and cost all of $300,000 to build. When they put the squeeze on a piece of flat metal it flows like taffy and comes out like your fender.

It's all, you see, a matter of dies.

BROADMOOR CHURCH PLANS CHRISTMAS PLAY

The Broadmoor Church of the Nazarene Sunday School at Washington and Edgeworth, will hold its annual Christmas program Sunday evening, Dec. 17, at 7 o'clock. The program will consist of a play entitled "Is Christ in Your Christmas?" And an arrangement for two youth choirs with recitations entitled "The Reason for Christmas." Boxes of candy will be given to all who attend.

On Wednesday night, Dec. 20, the Adult and Youth Missionary chapters will met at the home of Mrs. H. R. Miller, 279 Irvington street, Daly City, for the annual Christmas party.

Scouts Make Dolls

Serra highlands girl scout troop made up of 15 South San Francisco girl scouts, Mrs. Eggina Kelly, leader, have 20 dolls ready.

Girls in troop are: Gretchen Bloom, Carole Brown, Katy DeLucchi, Susan Cotten, Sharon Guenley, Sharon Isacson, Lindy Johnson, Gena Kelly, Jullianne Lieshman, Susan Marszalek, Jeannie Savorese, Janet Swartz, Kathy Wheat, Margo Widell and Marsha Widell.

AUTOMOTIVE PRODUCTION

Automotive factories in the United States turned out a total of 5,451,668 motor vehicles during the period from Jan. 1 through Nov. 11, 1961, reports the National Automobile Club.

During the same period last year, they produced a total of 6,901,817 vehicles.

Italian Catholic Fed. Has Display Contest

The deadline for entries in the Italian Catholic Federation Religious Christmas outdoor display is just a few days away. Entries must be submitted on the entry blanks which can be obtained at the Holy Angels parish rectory or church, and they must be turned in to the rectory no later than Dec. 17.

The contest is open to all parishioners of Holy Angels parish. Judging will be done on Dec. 19. Trophies donated by Gateway Chevrolet, Bank of America and the 101 Club, all of Colma, will be awarded the winners.

Abraham Lincoln Tots Give Yule Performance

The four kindergarten classes at Abraham Lincoln Elementary School gave Christmas performances for their parents in the classrooms. Kindergarten A, Mrs. Miriam Holmberg, teacher, presented a song and dance seasonal show on Thursday, Dec. 14.

Kindergarten B, Mrs. Kay Bollendonk, teacher, gave a musical, "Trip to Santa's Workshop," to two sets of parents on Wednesday, Dec. 13.

The morning class began its trip on a toy train—composed of Robert Rebolini, John Storer-Steven Pavasevich, Alberte Barbosa and Michael Moran. Santa's eight tiny reindeer were waiting at the North Pole in the persons of Patricia Stavish, Susan Denchasy, Mark Sterling, Karen Boyd, Raymond Thompson, James Connell, Jo Petru and Ann Marie Altimirano. Indian dancing dolls were represented by Diane Meagher, Mark Casy, Donna Harvie, Robert Grosch, James Riegal, Kathy Kennethy, Linda Post and Debra Gentis.

Around a revolving Christmas tree — Ronald Utley — five couples danced: Timothy Summers and Kathleen Page, Peter Fiore and Jenefer Svani, Dan McNab and Cartherine Chambliss, Paul O'Connell and Janice LaRock, David Jabs and Diane Leathley.

To round out the performance, six little jingle bells, accompanied in song by the class, were Timothy Wahler, John Church, Susan Frecker, Cynthis Philbert, Marc Begun and Herbert Sala.

The afternoon class presented the same play with a different list of characters. The toy train consisted of Terence Hunt, Robert Tringali, Gary Lewis, Daniel Martinelli and Curtis Huber.

The reindeer were Mario Paolini, Maureen Puppo, Kim Pardini, Janine Roche, Steven Bushner, Daniel Kennedy, Nancy Peterson and Richard Morris. Dancing with the Indian Dolls were Mickey Leahy, Dennice Riewerts, Craig Maxwell, Joanne Athens, Debra Deasy, Donna Abbott and Jose Vasconcellos.

Song and Dance

The dancers around the Christmas tree — Roger Knott — were Richard Fitzgerald and Pamela Hoefling, David Powell and Nancy Waisenen, Keith Dacosta and Caryll Hall, Richard Caldow and Joann Kerns, Barry Baltor and Anne Asher.

The final song of the little jingle bells was performed by Diane Broner, Robert Barr, Nancy Anderson, Debbie Welch, Bill Schuler and Bryan Locke.

An event of interest to the faculty at Abraham Lincoln Elementary School and to the students in Miss Sylvia Little's fourth grade, will be the marriage of Miss Little and John Broderick on Dec. 17. The ceremony will take place in Oakdale, Calif., after which the couple will travel throughout the state for two weeks. Miss Little will return to her class at Abraham Lincoln and Mr. Broderick will return to his class at Vallemar School in Laguna Salada on Jan. 2.

Musical Program

A colorful musical program was presented by the children of Abraham Lincoln Elementary School to the PTA assemblage Tuesday evening, Dec. 12.

Classroom 11, fourth graders under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Anne Byerly, staged "The Little Drummer Boy" — a musical tableau. This performance was followed by the glee club, under the direction of Miss Beatrice Cooper, rendering the traditional hymn —"Oh Come All Ye Faithful"; a Spanish carol, "Gatatumba," and an Appalachian mountain Carol, "I Wonder As I Wander."

To bring the holiday meeting to a rousing close, 25 members of the honor orchestra played three well loved Christmas songs, "Away in a Manger," "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night." This orchestra, under the direction of Robert Steele, represents four schools in the district — M. Pauline Brown, Christopher Columbus, Thomas Edison and Abraham Lincoln.

Daly City Nu Sigmas Have Cocktail Party

Nu Sigma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi welcomed new members Mrs. John Gallo and Miss Peggy Reese at a pledge ritual and dinner at Val's Restaurant on Thursday, Nov. 30.

The chapter sponsored a Sarah Coventry jewelry party as a ways and means project on Dec. 4. A Christmas cocktail party was held on Dec. 9 at the by a banquet at the Hilton Inn. home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCarthy and was followed

At next meeting, Dec. 14, a cultural program entitled "People" will be given by Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. Steve Cavrikas. Mrs. Thomas Eichner will serve as hostess at the meeting.

Major R. Barbero Receives Medal

Maj. Richard J. Barbero of Daly City, received the Army Commendation Medal from Maj. Gen. Harold K. Johnson, commandant of the Command and General Staff College, in recent ceremonies at Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Major Barbero is attending the regular course at the college. He was commended for meritorious service as chairman of the U. S. Army Reserve School, Department of Non-Resident Instruction, U. S. Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., from 6 June 1956 to 4 August 1961.

Major Barbero's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Barbero, live at 3 Fairway dr. Daly City. The major is a 1944 graduate of St. Ignatius High School, San Francisco, attended the University of San Francisco, Calif., and is a 1961 graduate of the University of Omaha, Neb.

Christmas Meet Set Mater Doiodosa Club

The women's club meeting and Christmas party is scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 20, at Santo Cristo hall at 8 p.m.

Special even before the meeting will be a Christmas skit performed by the first graders of the CCD classes, supervised by youth director Mrs. Paul Marchetti.

Social director Mrs. Richard Trombino will award three lovely prizes.

Also there will be an exchange of Christmas gifts. Each woman is to bring a gift of not more than $1 in value.

Hospitality chairman Mrs. Robert Collins will be in charge of refreshments. This month the women whose last names begin with the initial "B" will be notified to donate the refreshments for the evening.

The Women's Club monthly communion mass will be held Sunday, Dec. 24, at the 8:30 mass.

Also a little reminder to save your rummage for the February rummage sale.

Wilson School Has Christmas Songfest

The Woodrow Wilson School Christmas program under the direction of Mrs. Ethel Hahn, principal, included presentations from all four grades of the school. The kindergarten group, under the direction of Mrs. Norma Eddy, presented the song Pray Bless God. Under the guidance of Mrs. B. De Bolt the second grade sang the lively Deck the Hall, and the third gardes On Christmas Day in the Morning and Adeste Fidelis. The fourth grades voice choir conducted by Mrs. Kessler gave selected melodies alternately with the primary grade presentations.

Holiday parties for each classroom are being planned for December 15 by the Woodrow Wilson PTA under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. Boux, Jr., room representative chairman. Ice cream and cupcakes will be served. Participating room mothers include Mrs. Hanna Imhoff, Noreen Taylor, Helen Mason C. Cabig, P. DeMatala, L. Jay Rose, J. McCarthy, Lucchesi, L. Serra, Berlene McGraw, R. Mangean, Loretta Blincoe, Simone Diaz, P. Craviotto, E. Milano, Carmen Bala, M. Collins, Hendricks, Kern, King, Wolley, J. Christopher, V. Fisher, A. Madero, A. Walter, Chauses, A. Selmi, I. Stokes, Freda Smith, J. Dentoni, L. E. Warner, Rob't Borg, J. Pedroni, and R. Miller.

The Woodrow Wilson PTA November unit meeting was highlighted by the informal discussion led by Mrs. R. S. Dyer, guidance consultant of Berkeley Unified School District, on the day to day problems confronting families. The film Family Circles highlighted some of the sensitive areas where parents unknowingly set the scene for future neurotic tendencies. Mrs. Dyer stressed the need for constant reappraisal of values and habits on the part of parents. A good family life, she stated, is realized only when parents and children are willing to adapt to the constantly changing needs of the group. The successful meeting was presided over by Mrs. Orville Luster, president.

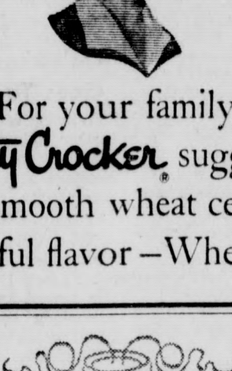
HIBERNATION

During the winter hibernation period, points out the National Automobile Club, the ground squirrel's heart beat is reduced from 200 to 350 per minute to a mere five.

For your family, Betty Crocker suggests a creamy smooth wheat cereal with a wonderful flavor—Wheat Hearts

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day, because it's the first. So it should be hearty and nourishing. That's one reason why Wheat Hearts is so popular here in the West. It gives you a hot, hearty breakfast with a good share of the protein and Vitamin B_1 you need every day.

And folks like Wheat Hearts for its distinctive flavor, too. It's a toasted, nut-like flavor that no other cereal can match.



Try it, with milk or cream and maybe a little honey. And remember, as Betty Crocker says:

"You and your family need a good, healthy breakfast to start you on your way... And the healthier your breakfast, the happier your day."

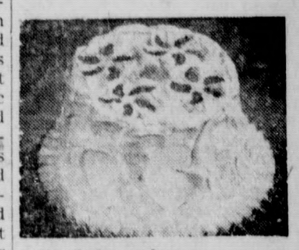
DESSERTS OF THE WEEK FROM Betty Crocker

Christmas is in the air — and who's going to celebrate? This year, why not plan a tree-trimming party at your house? Takes no time at all, when everyone pitches in. And when the tree is wreathed in all its splendor, bring in a high, light heavenly angel cake, swirled with poinsettias. Here's a crowning glory of a cake to climax your gayest party.



Cake-of-the-week:
CHRISTMAS ANGEL

Prepare Betty Crocker Angel Food Cake Mix batter as directed. Fold in one-fourth cup of finely chopped nuts. Bake in 10" tube pan as directed. Frost top and sides with Mint Cream Topping: Whip one-fourth cup mint jelly with fork until it forms a thin syrup. Whip one and one-half cups of whipping cream and one-fourth cup sifted confectioners' sugar. Fold jelly into whipped cream. Frost sides and top of cake. Whip about two more tbsp. red jelly to swirl in the shape of poinsettias.

Family favorite:
ALMOND RUM CAKE

Make batter as directed on Betty Crocker White Cake Mix pkg. — except fold in one-fourth cup chopped almonds. Bake as directed in oblong pan, 13x9½x2". Cool. Cut in half. (This makes two 9x6½ pieces.) Fill and frost with Betty Crocker Chocolate Fudge Flavor Frosting Mix to which 2 to 3 tsp. rum flavoring have been teaspoons rum flavoring have been added. Decorate top with almond slices.

Hot 'n hearty:
APPLESAUCE-SPICE CAKE

Good any chilly day — served hot from the oven! Prepare Betty Crocker Honey Spice Cake Mix as directed—except stir one-fourth tsp. soda into mix before adding water and eggs. Use only three-fourths cup water. Beat 4 min., med. speed on mixer. Fold three-fourths cup applesauce into batter. If desired, add one-third cup chopped nuts. Bake as directed in layers or oblong pan. Stays moist and tender for days!

BETTY CROCKER makes the difference... taste it!

Lake Merced Scouts Hold Quarterly Meet

"Plans for Your Scouting Unit" was the theme of the quarterly meeting of the Institutional Representatives of the Lake Merced district, San Francisco Council, Boy Scouts of America, held Tuesday, Dec. 12.

A dutch dinner preceded the meeting in the faculty dining room of San Francisco State College.

Within the Lake Merced district there are some 60 Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, Explorer posts and Sea Explorer ships sponsored by local PTA's, service clubs, civic and veterans organizations. Howard Stites of Daly City is the chairman of the Boy Scout district.

District executive Richard N. Ross said there are over 2,500 boys that are served in the Lake Merced district, which includes Forest Hills, St. Francis Woods, Lakeside, Park Merced, Ingleside, Daly City, Westlake and Colma.

Newly appointed institutional representatives are James Bias, representing parents sponsoring Pack 62; Robert Webber, representing American Legion Post 410, sponsoring Troop 62; Art Gordon, representing Westlake PA, sponsoring pack and troop 63; Wayne Alexander, representing Daly City fire department, sponsoring troop 65; Fred Goodell, representing Daly City Lions Club, sponsoring pack 244; David McKee, representing Vista Grande Avenue Christian Church, sponsoring pack and troop 245; Dr. Sanford Marcus, representing Westlake Improvement Association, sponsoring pack, troop and post 248; Louis Stark, representing Holy Angels Catholic Church, sponsoring pack 261, Herbert Goebel, representing American Legion Post 824, sponsoring pack 343; Mel Penna, representing parents sponsoring troop 343; Frank Carroll, representing Our Lady of Mercy Catholic Church, sponsoring pack and troop 347.

Temple Methodists Christmas Services Sunday, December 17

Temple Methodist Church, Punipero Serra boulevard at 19th avenue, will present its Christmas family worship service on Sunday, Dec. 17, at 4 p. m. This special service, entitled "Jesus, the Light of the World" will be narrated by Joe Cook and Ray McElroy, members of the college group.

The Christmas story will be told in part by a choral speaking choir of the third and fourth grade boys and girls, as well as by an interpretive dance group directed by Miss Mary Ann Hoffman. Junior and senior high school students will enact the tableaus which depict the birth and life of Jesus.

Special music will be by the junior choir under the direction of Miss Dorothy Clezie. The congregation will sing many of the carols.

M. P. Brown Yule Program Is Dec. 14

The M. Pauline Brown Christmas program will be held Thursday, Dec. 14, from 2 to 3 p. m. in the multi-use room.

The honor orchestra, directed by B. Steele, will play "Away in a Manger," "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night."

The glee club, directed by Mrs. Cooper, will sing "O Come All Ye Faithful," "Old French Carol," "Gatamumba" and "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

The kindergarten classes will sing "Funny Little Snowman," "Ten Little Jingle Bells" and "Jingle Bells."

The first grades will sing "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer," "The Christmas Stocking" and use the rhythm band with sleigh ride.

The second grades will sing "Up On the House Top," "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The third, fourth and fifth grades will sing "Silent Night," "We Three Kings of Orient Are," and "Good King Wenceslas."

The fifth and sixth grades will sing "Twelve Days of Christmas," "White Christmas" and "O Hanukkah." They are also dancing to "O Hanukkah" and "Jingle Bells." They are doing "The Story Teller" as a choral speaking group.

Rivera Children See Latin American Buff

Recently Donald Grimes, a graduate student of music at San Francisco State College told of his travels in South America and played and sang some Latin songs for the sixth graders at Fernando Rivera School.

The pupils were highly entertained with the five musical selections. Much educational information was given to the boys and girls as they heard of Mr. Grimes' travels and experiences throughout Mexico, Brazil, Argentina, and Uraguy.

Several of the delightful selections were: "Argentina Tango," "Calisco," and Argentina National Anthem." To supplement the musical portion of the program Mr. Grimes informed the audience of unique Latin customs and told important parts of Latin American geography with the aid of a map.

The boys and girls left the assembly with a better understanding and appreciation of their neighbors to the south.

B'nai B'rith Women Plan Donor Fun Nite

Skyline Chapter B'nai B'rith Women have planned a "Donor Fun Nite" for Tuesday, Dec. 19, at 8 p. m. at Lake Merced Sports Center on Skyline boulevard.

Admission price is $1 for the evening, including mah jongg, bridge and other games.

Refreshments will be served. Chairmen for the evening are Mrs. Alan Miller and Mrs. Elliott Yellin.

New Officers Installed For M. Brown PTA

Installation of officers by Mrs. Foriest Cunningham, president of the 17th District CCPT, officially activated the newly organized M. Pauline Brown Parent-Teachers Association.

Charter officers are as follows: Mrs. K. Gillespie, president; Mrs. L. Laingen, vice president; Mrs. R. Herring, secretary; Mrs. D. Aron, treasurer; Mrs. G. Kamprath, historian; Mrs. L. Anderson, auditor; D. Pagani, principal and honorary vice president.

Also in ateendance were the following officers in the 17th District CCPT: Mrs. L. E. Engleman, vice president; Mrs. John Pleskach, financial secretary, and Mrs. J. B. Mills, parliamentarian.

Receiving the gavel from Mrs. C. H. Preston, director of extension for the 17th District CCPT, Mrs. Gillespie thanked the members present for the honor which she received as charter president. She affirmed her belief in the precepts of PTA and is looking forward to the pleasure of working with the school for the welfare of the children.

Mrs. Gillespie called on Mrs. N. Gotelli, membership chairman, to discuss plans for the impending membership drive which started on Dec. 4, and culminates on Dec. 14. Mrs. Gotelli presented a well organized plan for the membership drive, implemented by posters which will be placed in each classroom and the pennant which will go to the class with the most parents in attendance at PTA meetings. She also indicated that a prize will be presented to the class with the closest to 100 per cent membership in the PTA. The winner will be announced during the Christmas program on Dec. 14.

Next order of business was a report by Mrs. V. Gano on the room mothers meeting with a recommendation to the unit to purchase Christmas trees for the classes, and also share in "Operation Santa Claus," whereby children will bring canned food for needy families within Daly City. L. Anderson offered to contribute Christmas trees to the school and was roundly applauded for his generosity.

Mrs. Pagani introduced his teaching staff and custodian, and invited those present to the forthcoming Christmas program which will be held in the school's multi-purpose room on Dec. 14 from 2 to 3 p. m.

The meeting was adjourned with a reminder that the next meeting will be held on Dec. 14, prior to the Christmas program.

Columbus School PTA Goes To The Moon

Winners of the recent Christopher Columbus School PTA membership drive will be announced at the school Christmas Party program Wednesday night, December 13 at 7:30.

The Christopher Columbus Elementary School, located in St. Francis Heights, represents the newest and finest equipped school in the Jefferson Elementary School District. Robert Abbey, prominent educator, is the principal.

The school features definite patterns of special education with particular emphasis in braille for the blind and for children requiring special attention in grade work.

As a stimulus for increasing Columbus School PTA membership, a simulated rocket "trip to the moon" contest has been in progress for the past month. All classes participated. The first class securing 100% PTA membership will spearhead the trip to the moon and will be presented with a special award. Subsequent classes "reaching the moon" will also receive awards.

Parents and friends are urged to attend the Christmas Program, Wednesday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose room of Columbus School. The entire program will be presented by the children's glee club, the second grade class, and the honor orchestra featuring instrumental music students from M. Pauline Brown, Christopher Columbus, Thomas Edison and Abraham Lincoln Schools directed by Robert Steele.

Bethel Lutherans To Have Xmas Service

Next Sunday, December 17, at 7 p.m., the Sunday School of Bethel Lutheran Church, 2525 Alemany blvd., will conduct the annual Christmas Service in the Parish House. The theme of the Service is: "O Come, Let Us Adore Him."

The congregation will read the inspiring account as it is recorded in the Gospel of St. Luke.

The Junior Choir, under the direction of Miss Gladys Schultz, will sing appropriate selections. The accompanist is Miss Heidi Kaufmann.

The following committee is in charge: Miss Carole Goodson, Miss Roberta Wandel, Mrs. William Brown, Mrs. Edward Percy, and Mrs. W. John Wright.

S. Malta Graduates From Torpedo School

Sam F. Malta, torpedoman's mate seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Malta of 275 Arroya drive in Pacifica, was graduated Nov. 15 from the Enlisted Basic Submarine School at the New London-Naval Submarine Base at Groton, Conn.

Most graduates will report to operating submarines, after which they will have nine months in which to qualify fully as submariners and be selected to wear the dolphin symbol of the submarine service.

About 40,000 children in the United States each year are born with some form of heart defect. The San Mateo County Heart Association says that 80 per cent of them now can be helped by surgery, largely the result of heart research in the past decade.

Nursery Co-Op Officers Named

At their semi annual elections, the members of the Village Co-operative Nursery School elected new officers for the Spring semester.

The new officers are Mrs. Bobbi Fallon, president; Mrs. Kathy Schappert, vice president; Mrs. Margo Martin, secretary; Mrs. Ellen Van Crevold, treasurer; Mrs. Carolyn Kelly, council delegate; Mrs. Joyce Sogg, scheduling chairman, and Mrs. Myrna Woodhead, parliamentarian.

Village Co-operative Nursery School is for children from two and a half to five years of age.

It is inter-racial and non-profit and is in session each week day morning from 8:45 to 11:45 during the regular school year.

Two experienced nursery school teachers and five or six mothers are at the school each morning. The school is located at the Colma Community Center on Dunks street. and serves Colma, Westlake, Daly City and South San Francisco.

Information concerning the Spring semester and car pools from these areas may be obtained by calling Mrs. Kathy Schappert, PLaza 6-6771.

Seymour's Owner Is Church Bishop

by Randy Marcus

Most persons who shop at Seymour's of Westlake aren't aware that the owner, Seymour Steed, has another job which he considers more important.

That of a Bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for the Pacifica Ward, of the San Mateo Stake. He has been a Bishop for two years and before that he was what was called a branch president, which is a similar position.

672 Members

His ward is a geographical area as is a parish in other churches, and it is bounded by Daly City, Pescadero and Skyline Blvd. Within this area are 672 members for whom he is responsible.

Since there are 180 families in his ward which must be visited each month to ascertain their spiritual and physical needs, Steed contends that only the excellent organizational methods of his church make this possible.

The members of the church who are engaged in this combination of teaching and welfare work bring back to a central committee a report on the various needs of the families visited. It is then the Bishop's responsibility to decide what assistance to give.

Donate Food

If a family is in need of clothing or food, Steed will issue an order on the Bishop's storehouse for the necessary items.

These warehouses are stocked by benifit of donated time and energy in the manufacturing, farming and canning of required goods.

For instance, the church has a twenty-one acre farm in Half Moon Bay which is run jointly by eight wards. Every eighth Saturday, the Pacifica Ward members are responsible for a day's labor at the farm, which may mean harvesting, weeding, and carpentry work on the farm buildings. This gift of time and labor is, according to Steed, one of the basic concepts of his church.

Bishop Steed holds services in the Masonic Hall in Pacifica, where he and his wife have lived for over nine years.

Village Nursery Now Enrolling

Village Co-operative Nursery School is now accepting applications for enrollment of children between 2½ and five years of age.

Village Nursery School is a cooperative school which gives the pre-school child an opportunity to play with other children of his own age in varied activities under the skilled direction of Mrs. Kay Seghetti, director, and Mrs. Joy Nye, assistant director. Teachers and parents together supervise the activities of the children. Each mother works one morning a week at the school, sharing this special experience with her child.

The children's program includes finger painting, easel painting, story telling, clay modeling, music and dancing, block-building, out-door activities, exercises and other creative projects.

Inter-racial, non-sectarian, and non-profit, Village Nursery School is in session each week day morning from 8:45 to 11:45 a. m. during the regular school year.

Sponsored by the Adult Education Department of the Jefferson School District and licensed by the Department of Social Welfare, one or both parents also attend a class every Tuesday evening in parent-child relationship.

Olympia School To Have Yule Program

All parents and the public are invited to enjoy the delightful Christmas program to be presented by the children of Olympia School on Thursday, Dec. 14, at 1:30 p.m. in the school's multi-use room.

The program will carry out the theme of the Christmas season and all classes will participate.

Teachers Luncheon

The annual teachers' luncheon was held in the teachers' lunch room, served by members of the PTA of Olympia School on Wednesday, Dec. 6.

The room was festively decorated in the Christmas spirit by the PTA and yule corsages were seat at each teacher's place.

The teachers and school personnel present included Mrs. Louine Bostwick, principal; Mrs. Audrey Boyle, secretary; Mrs. Althea Belli, speech teacher; Miss Sheila Byrnes, school nurse; Mrs. Helen Delafield, health co-ordinator, and teachers Mrs. Emma Hammond, Mrs. Mrs. Alice von der Mehden, Mrs. Myrna Jones, Mrs. Katheryn Snell, Miss Marlene Elsbree, Mrs. Foula Lamp, Miss Claire Hamblim, Mrs. Barbara Busetto, Miss Alanna Cottrell and Mrs. Patricia Mattson, and student teachers Mrs. Toni Mathis, Mrs. Jean Dapkus, Miss Pat Johnson and Dan McGuire.

The luncheon was served by PTA members Mrs. Leslie Marino, Mrs. Herbert Luders, Mrs. Clyde Sargent, Mrs. Edward Headman and Mrs. Lewis Hess.

WHEN WHEELS CREAK

Do the wheels creak when your car turns a corner? It may be a loose bolt, points out the National Automobile Club. Loose bolts permit the wheel to wobble, and wheel wobble is the cause of one of the most rapid forms of tire wear.

Troop 340 Has Xmas Dinner

Scouts of College City Boy Scout Troop 340, and their families, held a very successful Christmas dinner and Court of Honor last wednesday evening at the Lake Merced Aquatic Sports Center.

In the Court of Honor, conducted by veteran Scoutmaster D. C. Bryant, Scouters John Mord, Jr., L. E. James, Donald Odgers, Ben Teshara and Larry Teshara, presented: 64 merit badges; 33 1961 long term summer camping segments; Mills mile badges to Jim Madden, Gregory Nickerson, Dennis Odgers and Howard Squires; first class badges to Stephen Bullis, David Carlson and Bill Lipson; and recognized the following scouts who have completed requirements for high ranks: star—Gregory Nickerson and Bill Lipson; life—Howard Squires and Michael Harrison; bronze palm on eagle badge — Larry Teshara; and eagle—Robert Leeds (He became the 30th Scout to attain the high rank of eagle in Troop 340).

During the past six months Troop 340 has held a compass hike and cook-out in Golden Gate Park, gone camping overnight at Big Basin, Portola State Park, and Camp Lilienthal, and attended Camp Royaneh for two weeks.

Future plans include: ushering at East-West Game; swimming and life saving instruction; boating instruction; window display contest; Scout-O-Rama; first aid course; and more camping and hiking and camp Royaneh 1962.

Following the dinner, at which guests were seated at 15 tables beautifully decorated in keeping with the Christmas theme, distinguished guests were introduced, Mrs. Carolyn Arnesen accompanied by Mrs. R. B. Boyle led the singing of Christmas carols, Santa arrived with gifts for all, and veteran scouter Ben V. Teshara led the group in an impressive closing ceremony.

About 100 attended the dinner, planned by Mrs. D. C. Bryant, president of the Lake Merced Club (sponsors of Cub Pack 340 and Boy Scout Troop 340), and chairman of the dinner committee, composed of the following patrol leaders and their parents: flaming arrow patrol — Trygve Arnesen and Mrs. Carolyn Arnesen; panther patrol—Howard Squires and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Squires; coyote patrol—Dennis Odgers and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Odgers; and apache patrol — Donald Boyle and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Boyle. Troop 340 meets each Wednesday evening at Commodore Sloat School.

Planner To Quit Post In Pacifica

Pacifica planning consultant Fred Barber will resign from the city's service to accept a position as director of planning for Placer County, it was announced at the Dec. 4 council meeting.

Barber has been a member of the firm of Hahn, Wise and Barber of San Carlos, and has served the city on a part-time basis. He will be replaced as planning consultant by another member of the same firm, Edward Robinson.

Volunteers To Launch Drive To Aid Needy

A Christmas for the 3,000 elderly people and the hundreds of families, also in need, living in San Mateo County, is the goal of the Community Christmas Bureau, launching its annual drive. Last year's total of $4,600 in cash contributions did not begin to meet requests for money grants among the needy, and was alloted to only 403 individuals and families.

This year more generous giving is a necessity, declared Miss Margaret Ruettell, executive director of the volunteer bureau, which recruits volunteer workers for the Christmas bureau and has responsibility for its groundwork organization, office routine, and related duties.

"We have to contend with illness, the rise of unemployment, and other factors among the needy this past year," Miss Ruettell stated. She specified that, according to files in the Department of Health and Welfare and other welfare agencies, the areas of need in San Mateo County, generally considered a "privileged" county, are as great as in other parts of the state.

Established in 1954 as an outgrowth of the Adrin Ward Christmas Fund, the Community Christmas Bureau, staffed by volunteers, is a community organization. It is headed by a committee composed of civic and business leaders, representatives of fraternal and other club groups, social welfare agencies, and the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve, collecting toys each year for the drive. The Christmas Bureau 1961 chairman is Mrs. Edward J. Foley of Burlingame.

To date a total of $1,000 has been contributed to the Bureau from clubs and other social and service organizations. Miss Ruettell stressed the importance of cash gifts to the needy as allowing the recipient "dignity" in meeting his specific needs.

The Community Christmas Bureau officially opened on December 4 in the Naval Reserve Training Center Building, Baldwin avenue and San Mateo drive, San Mateo, may be reached through P. O. Box 69, San Mateo or the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose road, Burlingame.

R. Pineda Is Grad Of Marine Guards

Marine Cpl. Ralph A. Pineda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Javies Pineda of 543 Castle street, Daly City, received his diploma from Secretary of State Dean Rusk upon graduation from the Marine Corps' Security Guard School on Oct. 27 in Washington, D. C.

The six-week course prepares Marines for special duty overseas as security guards. There are now some 800 Marines in 91 such posts in 79 countries.

Secretary Rusk spoke to the graduates on the importance of their new jobs as "military ambassadors." Each graduate has been assigned a two-year tour of duty at some 51 American embassies, consulates and legations overseas.

Central American Education

During the past several weeks, this column has been concerned with the people and country of Mexico. While there could be many more articles written on this "Land of Extremes," it seems advisable that we venture forth, in the next article, to the "mysterious land of Guatemala" and other Central American republics.

In considering the "customs" prior to entry into Guatemala, this article developed, which is hoped, will give the reader further insight into accepted procedures at the borders, as well as information that may mean the saving of time and money for anyone planning a visit to our southern neighbors.

In the discussion on "currency" the remarks apply only to those countries having an exchange rate favorable to the United States. This immediately eliminates Guatemala, for the exchange rate in this country is exactly the same as in the United States — in fact, the Guatemalan dollar is worth a fraction of a cent more than the U.S. dollar. The other countries, from Mexico to Costa Rica, have favorable currency rates to which the comments apply.

Most people in the U.S. would frown on the idea of using the black market for the exchange of money, preferring to deal directly with a bank. This would be foolish, for there are two black markets in each country. One dealing with contraband or stolen merchandise, and illegal; the other a legal operation for the exchange of money, particularly United States dollars, in the currency of the country being visited. The "exchange" black market transacts business during the week days, and the activity is ordinarily located in front of the National Bank. The operators may be recognized by the small pocket-satchel they carry under their arm, or in their hands. Most of these operators are employed by competitive banks that are vieing for the U.S. dollar, which is considered a premium.

Spying a tourist, they will approach and ask if an exchange of money is desired, stating, slyly, that they will save you time by giving the same exchange as the bank. This offer should be refused. Another offer will be made giving a higher price. At this moment, if the tourist is interested, he should quote an exchange rate high enough so that bargaining may take place, the bidder rising in price, the exchanger or seller of the money coming down. Through the black market operators, it is possible for the alert traveler to obtain a much better rate of exchange than given in the bank. In the better hotels there is a charge for exchanging, which brings the rates lower than that offered by the bank or anyone else. Exchange rates fluctuate, therefore it is wise to ask the current rates of several people before transacting business, requesting black market exchange rates.

A word of caution: It is perfectly fine to obtain the most favorable rate of exchange, but do not go overboard and believe that dollars may be made on the deal, for a hope of profit may turn into a serious loss. Exchange only what it is estimated the expenses, including gifts, will be during the visit to the country. Should a person think that, with a favorable exchange rate, that he would be able to convert his United States dollars into foreign currency and then use the foreign currency for such an item as a plane trip home, he is in for a big shock. To convert foreign money into U.S. dollars is costly. The airlines will not accept the currency and will insist on the dollars, U.S. The foolish profit maker will find that no one is interested in obtaining the money of their country at the current exchange rates, for the United States dollar, and unless he stays in the country and spends it, he will suffer an unanticipated loss. All Central American countries will accept the U.S. dollar, but there is a lack of interest in exchanging their own currency back to U.S. dollars, at the same rate of exchange.

As to forwarding monies from the United States to a traveler: Should the traveler be from the West Coast, it is extremely unwise to have money remitted by international money order (U.S. Postal). International money orders are forwarded to New York for further transmittal to the recipient. This means a delay between the time of applying for the money order, its receipt in New York, and ultimate delivery. The writer had the experience of having international postal money orders sent to him in Costa Rica, which were not received in that country until he had been gone for over three weeks—and another 45 days elapsed until he cleared the funds through local post offices.

The most convenient way for funds is by a letter of credit from a bank, or travelers checks. Should this not be possible, then the traveler should make arrangements with his bank to forward money on his request, prior to departure. In the event that neither of these may be convenient or acceptable, the tourist requiring additional funds may obtain them from a deposited account by going to the National Bank of the country and asking them to send a telegram for transfer of funds, on deposit in the States. The waiting period on this is generally 48 hours, but the tourist will have to pay the telegraph fees one way, in some cases both ways.

Emphasis is given to the factor that money matters of this nature are best conducted through the banks, rather than postal systems.

Most United States citizens will become irked with the Customs officials along the road through Central America. Actually, understanding the procedure, and the obvious reasons behind the procedure, will assist in keeping frustration and blood pressure down. It is not unusual to find, at an exit Custom office, prior to entry into another country, an official who will suggest you give him all the currency that you have of his country, since it will not do you any good in the next. A grain of salt! Exchange of currency between neighboring countries is always possible, even though in some cases a slight loss may be taken.

Customs requirements differ within each country. Most of them are concerned mainly about the selling of items brought into the country, without payment of duty. It is recommended that United States citizens register foreign cameras and equipment with the U.S. Customs prior to leaving the United States. Failure to do this may result in a question being asked on return to the United States by officials, to prove purchase was made in the United States and not in a foreign country. Failure to be able to supply such information may result in a duty being imposed. (Invoice or proof of sale is sufficient.)

Most custom houses, exit or entrance, of Central America, have specific hours when they are closed or opened. The U.S. tourist should not be unduly unhappy if he wants to go through a border of one country and enter the border of another (in a pressure of time) when the closing hour is in effect. For a small fee, the Custom official on duty will do the paper work necessary to effect entry or exit. This fee is expected by the official of the country being entered as well as the one being left. In addition, it may be necessary to pay an additional fee to the barracade guard from Nicaragua south.

If traveling on a strict budget, obtain information from the United States Embassy on border requirements and plan at least an hour to two-hour stopover when the Custom houses are open.

Another question which confronts the tourist is the forwarding of mail. With the exception of Mexico, it will save a great deal of searching and not finding if the mail is forwarded to the United States Embassy at the major city of the country to be visited. While there are American Express offices in most of these, they are operated by travel agencies which are sometimes most difficult to locate. General delivery is very unreliable, for there are many factors which influence efficient delivery. The United States Embassy will hold mail for 30 days and then return to the sender. Mexico City is an exception to the rule. They have an American Express office —which is easily located—that gives efficient service, as does the Consulate. As for forwarding articles by mail—don't, if you value the article. An alternative is to ship by air freight. Articles shipped by general mail very often never reach their intended destination.

As concluding suggestions, the person visiting the Central American republic would be wise to obtain a small amount of the currency to be used, prior to his entry into the country .A study of the money may be made from the AAA roadbooks; however, it helps to have some of the money being used for expenses prior to making the most profitable exchange possible.

Finally, in connection with customs inspections, be assured that the United States system is by far the most thorough. The officials are simply doing their job in searching your car, which is required by their country's laws. Undoubtedly, this is the most irritating procedure to be experienced, but a sense of humor, and a realization that the precodures have been instigated for reasons of national benefit, will make the wait a little less irksome.

SINGING DECKHAND—Richard Hunter, 438 Crocker avenue, Daly City (left), the former "Caruso of the Ferries," will sing Dec. 13 at the 30th anniversary installation ceremonies of Roosevelt Lodge, Loyal Order of Masons, San Francisco. He was accompanied in song by Alfred Seligman (right), baritone, from South San Francisco Lodge. Judge Bill Traverso (center), past master of Roosevelt Lodge, will be installing officer.

Officer Held For Assault

Former Daly City police officer James Baird Jr., 42, of 236 Third avenue, was jailed by local officers and Marin County authorities Monday, charged with the alleged rape of the nine-year-old daughter of a Marin county deputy sheriff with whom he formerly worked.

The girl accused Baird of molesting her for more than two years and of raping her about two months ago.

About three months ago, Baird got a job as an airline security guard at the San Francisco International Airport. He worked for the Daly City Police Department in 1954 and as a patrolman for the Sausalito Police Department in 1955 and 1956, before passing an examination for Marin County deputy, where he worked until 1959, when he resigned to move to his parents' home in Santa Cruz County.

Hope Lutherans Plan For Xmas

Emphasis on the significance and impact of Christ's birth is the theme of services being held at Hope Lutheran Church, 55 San Fernando Way, Daly City, during Advent and Christmas this month, the Reverend Paul R. Malte has announced. The second of a series of midweek services will be held at the church at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, December 13.

This midweek service will be informal and will include presentation of a film, "The Birth of Christ in Masterpieces of Art." Refreshments will be served following the service.

The topic of Pastor Malte's sermon for the services to be held on the Third Sunday in Advent, December 17, will be "One-up-manship." Services will be conducted at 8:30 a. m. and at 11 a. m. Bible study and Sunday school classes will meet between the two services.

Council To Meet

The council of Hope Lutheran Church will hold its monthly meeting in the church council room on the evening of December 13, following the midweek Advent services being held earlier in the evening.

The Reverend John Uhlig, executive secretary of the California-Nevada District, The Lutheran Church - Missiouri Synod, will be present at this meeting.

Awards Given At Washington School

Athletic awards were presented during the assembly at George Washington on Monday to the winners of the first intramural sports. The sixth grade girls kickball was earned by Mr. Jim Hough's Forty-Niners. In the boys' touch football, Mrs. Marion Livesay's sixth grade won. The fourth and fifth grade league was won by Mrs. Violet Norsworthy's Pirates in both boys' and girls' kickball.

Mrs. Alfred Parody presented the PTA membership award banner to the third grade class of Miss Bobbie Quinlan for the membership drive.

ASSEMBLY QUIZ

The main feature of the assembly was presented by Mr. Jim Hough's sixth grade, entitled "Break Your Brain." Announcers were Gerri Evans and Dan Laird; signs, Richard Allen, Ray Chalman, Tony Schronck, Gloria Ayala and George Bradley; expert, Marilyn Nolan; timekeeper, Shawn McDonell; scorekeeper, Pam Smith, David Gfroerer, Jeanette Oswald; pointers, Kimberly Bradley and Michael Heap; quizmasters, Gary Parodi and Beverly Poncia; lights, Rexine Montgomery; script assistants, Chester Lee, Virginia Ansaldo.

The teams competing in the quiz on Canada were: Elbow Bend Panel: Ron Capuz, Mike Theofanides, Christine Fleming, Karen Kim, Mary Driscoll; Cornplaster Tech team was Michael Sweet, Bill O'Toole, Betsy Joseph, Jean Loveless, Tommie Sailor. Book Review Thursday On Xmas Carols

Friends of the Library will sponsor a Dec. 14 book review at the Westlake Bowl at 10 a. m., presented by Mrs. George Cox, reference librarian with the San Mateo library.

Mrs. Cox will talk on Christmas customs and carols of many lands. Her talk will include traditional celebrations of each country, typical Christmas carols on records.

Countries discussed will include England, France, Germany, Spain, Latin American countries and Austria, where the universally-known "Silent Night" originated.

A color film will tell the story of the writing of this song by a village schoolmaster and priest in 1818. The talk will be done in conjunction with the YWCA. Mrs. Cox is a 1958 graduate of the University of North Carolina.

Pacifica Women To Have Xmas Party

Pacifica Federated Women's Club members gather on Tuesday, Dec. 19, to observe their annual Christmas party. President Mrs. Jess Burton has announced that the event will be held in the Terra Nova High School library at 8 p. m.

There will be a gift exchange, and a card game will be one of the activities of the evening. Mrs. Floyd Leslie is serving as refreshment chairman.

BOYS AT PLAY — A study of two boys on a metal playing ladder shows the quality of work undertaken by Jefferson High School photo lab students. This shot was taken by Carl Calvin.

FEEDING SQUIRRELS — Jim Cantania of Jefferson High School has captured the mood and spirit of two middle-aged men feeding a squirrel in the park. The shot was selected by instructor Gil Toibin for its overall quality.

by Jack Wood

A lesson in poetry. A lesson in beauty, with physics and chemisty thrown in.

This is what students in Gil Toibin's photography class learn at Jefferson High School.

Toibin, former sculptor, artist, defines it more intensely.

"We play for keeps here," he affirmed.

"This is an art course. The idea is to develop the students awareness of the world he lives in and record it in a photographic way."

About 100 students take Toibin's photo-art courses.

Some do work along the lines of fashion or nature, as evidenced by Rich Garibaldi, who plans to become a fashion photographer after graduation.

A Never-Ending Study

Toibin teaches only the best techniques, using lessons he learned from experts in the field. He imparts their ideas to his students. For reference, Toibin calls upon the ideas of photo experts Alfred Stieglitz, Edward Steichen, Paul Strand, Edward Weston, Dorothea Lang, Ansel Adams and Henri-Cartier-Bresson.

Believing that photography "is a never ending study of a way of life," Toibin starts each student off in his course with a full semester of elementals. After this they learn more of the mechanical side. A student can actualy take three full years of photography at Jefferson, including beginning year and two years of advanced work.

Students are free to experiment. For instance Brian Markus has experimented in a departure along the lines of fashion, using stark photos for affect.

Pictures Have Meaning

"The more they learn, the more they become involved and the more personal becomes their expression of ideas."

Physics, mathematics are also brought into play with the principles of art. Students also learn to study the psychological and sociological affects of their subjects before photographing them.

"Taking a picture must have meaning for you," Toibin said.

In the photo lab are several pictures of the same subject, a gourd and other objects around a piece of driftwood. Each is taken from a different angle. Each has a different meaning, a different message.

Toibin said that many adults have called his course "futile." Yet, he says, there is no other course which has any broader content.

College Level Course

"Down here we play for keeps. I think I teach as good a course as on a college level."

"I don't handle it like a high school course and the kids seem to learn as well as college students."

Photo student Brian Markus pointed out the chemical rooms and tanks where students mix their own fixers and baths, then the dark where students were working in an eerie light over their prints; then back into the main work room where several students were working on still shots and arranging prints. There were eight enlargers, standing like white ghosts in white coverings in the dark room.

Photography started at Jefferson High School in 1939 when the then superintendent, James Ferguson started the first photo lab.

Since then, the course has proven out Toibin's belief; especially for students who carry on the work — that "photography is a never ending story—a way of life."

IN THE SPOTLIGHT—Jefferson High School photo lab student Ray Archeleta spotlights a still shot of driftwood and gourds before snapping the picture which he will develop for art study.

GARDEN VILLAGE PTA PLANS CHRISTMAS CAROLS

The December meeting of the Garden Village PTA featured the Garden Village glee club, directed by Mrs. B. Cooper, with renditions of Christmas hymns and carols. Following the program, the audience joined the glee club in a number of familiar seasonal hymns, after which all enjoyed refreshments in keeping with the holiday mood of the evening. Mrs. Kadapolis and Mrs. Manning, second grade room representatives, were hostesses for the glee club, while Mrs. Cohen, Mrs. Giffin, Mrs. Jeppson, Mrs. Mathe, Mrs. Peters, Mrs. Scaduto and Mrs. Tolomei served parents and friends.

As a community project, Frank Swanson, cub master of Troop 259, presented six gaily wrapped packages of canned goods to Garden Village PTA, sponsor of the troop, who, in turn, donated the gift to Broadmoor American Legion Auxiliary No. 824 for distribution among those in need within the community.

The flag ceremony was conducted by members of Pack 259 — Robert Rowe and Bruce Bushner of Webelos, Steven Mazza and Greg deMartini of Den II and Steven Scaduto of Den III.

The multi-purpose room was decorated appropriately for the Christmas season by students of Miss Schneider's and Miss Williams' classes with paper Santa Clauses, wreaths and Christmas trees, while a large tree, decorated by all of the classes, twinkled a welcome to

More Bus Stops On Edgemar Freeway

Pacifica councilmen recently adopted a plan to install bus stops and pedestrian overpasses to them, costing an estimated $150,000, on an extension of the Edgemar freeway as far south as Sharp Park.

The plan would alow buses to pick up passengers by driving up on special loading platforms instead of forcing them to go onto frontage roads.

Concert Buffs Set Plans For Future Talent

The executive board of the North Peninsula Concert Association honored some of the most successful workers of the organization with a luncheon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Russell, Jr., on Thursday, Dec. 7.

As Miss Alma E. Lauritzen, who serves this association, explained the groundwork which must be done to assure a successful drive next spring, the enthusiasm of the group mounted. The goal for next season is a sell-out of Capuchino auditorium so that the Vienna Choir Boys may be secured. Miss Lauritzen left for New York on Dec. 6 to make arrangements for booking the choir.

Ably assisting Miss Lauritzen in her presentation was Mrs. John A. Corlett, secretary of the Tri-City Concert Association since its inception 16 years ago.

Members from each of the North Peninsula communities will meet in January to organize their local campaigns.

Millbrae was represented by Mrs. William Wattie, Mrs. Joseph J. Bruno and Mrs. Frank Forst; San Bruno by Mrs. Willard R. Engvall, Mrs. Jack Heninger, Mrs. Gabriel Vincent and Mrs. Lois Brockway; South San Francisco by Mrs. Hugh B. Mitzner, Mrs. Thomas Needham and Mrs. Robert L. Braun, and Daly City by Mrs. Francis G. Beukers.

All members present expressed their pleasure over the fine concerts scheduled for this season and look forward to the next concert, which will be given by Margot Blum on Jan. 5, following her return from her current European tour.

New Brownie Troop In Broadmoor Area

A new troop, under the direction of Mrs. Edna Leonard and Mrs. Nora Seibert, has been registered in the Broadmoor area.

Troop 657 consists of ten second graders: Sharon Caucki, Jill Eckman, Joyce Garcia, Cathy Laughridge, Peggy Leonard, Deborah Luz, Nancy Seibert, Denise Sobick, Valerie Stevens and Janet Whitney.

The girls in their few short months have gone on heir first outing with more outings planned, busied themselves with holiday crafts and made their contribution for those in need.

After a busy month of holiday preparedness, the Brownies will be treated to a Christmas party.

The girls have big plans for the future, with outings, parents parties and more crafts to come.

Girl Scout Leader Living In Virginia

Mrs. John House, former Girl Scout neighborhood chairman in Westlake division of Daly City, and her husband and four children are now living ten miles south of Washington, D. C., in Fairfax County, Virginia, one of the fastest growing counties in the nation.

In a letter, Mrs. House states "We have found a brick house and with no trouble at all we found Brownie and Intermediate Troops for the girls and a little for their mother to do as well."

Girl Scout friends are delighted to hear from the House family, who now live at 4707 Bristow drive, Annandale, Va.

Services Held For T. Chiesa

Funeral services were held Monday for Temistocle Chiesa, who passed away Dec. 7.

Mr. Chiesa was a resident of Daly City for 63 years. A pioneer of the city, Chiesa was a long time employee of the Muni lines and later became a nurseryman in Colma.

He is survived by daughter, Rose Giusti, of 245 Woodruff street; daughter, Olivia Johnson; a son, Tullio Chiesa, 234 Brazil street, and sons, William and Capt. Robert DiNardelli of Tampa, Fla. A surviving grandchild is Albert Giusti, son of Rose.

Funeral services were held at Vallente-Marini-Perata Funeral Home. Burial was held at the Italian cemetery in Colma.

The Chiesas resided at 156 Citrus avenue, Daly City. Mrs. Chiesa passed away in 1957.

Brownie Troop 587 Makes Toy Rabbits

Third grade Brownies from Troop 587 in the Daly City-Colma area made stuffed toy rabbits or children at the Sonoma State Hospital to brighten their Christmas.

On Dec. 11, the group visited a TV show and later had a snack at a nearby restaurant.

Those who attended were: Patricia Bonavito, Sylvia Burn, Linda Clark, Debbie Corbett, Sherry Gelphman, Kathy Hendrickson, Robin Neuhaus, Kate Oliver, Kerry Riemers, Roberta Wentzel, Marjorie Wilson and Lori White.

Leaders who accompanied the group were Mrs. L. Burn, Mrs. G. Gelphman, Mrs. H. Clark and Mrs. R. White.

A Christmas party and program with a gift exchange is planned.

SPORTS

"Football Is Our New National Pastime" Says Top NFL Owner George Marshall

In a recent issue of The Saturday Evening Post, George Preston Marshall, owner of the Washington Redskins, of the National Football League, has maintained that football, not baseball, is our national sport.

Said Marshall: "I've suspected for years that baseball was cooked as the national pastime. What convinced me was a game I watched in Cleveland not long ago. The Indians used three relief pitchers. All were hauled in from the bull pen to the mound in an automobile. There are other parks, I am told, where jeeps and motor scooters are used for the same purpose. If a sport, desperate for a speed-up and gasping for pep, becomes dependent upon gasoline power, it is plainly no challenge to football as the national pastime. As baseball slows steadily, football gets livelier and more interesting each year. In addition, football has more impact on the American home than baseball, it's more important to the nation's economy, is more colorful and even more sex appeal. Football leads to romance."

Marshall, who bought the Redskins in 1932, and has operated the team since that time, claims that football is rugged man to man combat. "It suggests the gladiator," he says. While baseball is mostly 'a jawing contest . . . chronic bellyaching on the field."

Although his team, the Redskins, has suggested anything but gladiators with their almost perfect record of no wins, 12 losses, and one tie, Marshall desn't allow this to diminish his remarks one bit. Not only baseball is inept as a competitor, he claims, but so is just about every other sport.

"Golf and bowling have increased in popularity in this country, though I can't understand why. I have studied golf for years and found only this: you hit the ball and then walk after it. If golf is a game of cocktails and tweeds, bowling is one of beer and T shirts. This is a stupid game. You roll a ball down an alley, and one of two things happen: (a) it knocks down the pins or (b) it doesn't. People guzzle beer while they play. The noise is deafening, the atmosphere is smoky and the participants wear the shabbiest clothing in sports. The women naturally are attired in unattractive slacks and in gaudy polo shirts that bear such inspirational messages as Sam's Auto Painting."

Football Spectacular

On the other hand, the spectacle of football is far from the shabby show Marshall claims is put on by the other sports.

"At the college level football engenders social activities. A couple who live in Cleveland are invited by another couple in Columbus to see the Ohio State - Michigan game. There are cocktail parties, dinners and brunches. The girls buy new hats or suits. For baseball a woman will wear any old rag. For football she feels she ought to be chic. No sport should call itself the national pastime until it can sell a hat or a dress.

"Football also sells mink coats, blankets, umbrellas and whiskey, not to mention flowers, gasoline and airline tickets. It also rents hotel rooms by the thousands. People will travel great distances to see a football game. How many, for instance, would travel from Cincinnati to Los Angeles to see the Reds play the Dodgers?"

Marshall, who along with George Halas of the Chicago Bears has managed to center himself in ust about every bit of controversy ever concerned with the NFL, has recently been the focus of an argument with the United States government. Earlier this year, Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall threatened to bar the the Redskins from the new Washington, D. C., stadium until they hired a Negro to play. All other NFL teams employ Negroes, the Redskins have remained a holdout.

The Redskins are still bidding for All-American Ernie Davis of Syracuse in an effort to comply with Udall's ultimatum. In the meantime, they signed their eighth draft choice, Ron Hatcher, a Negro, who will become the first Negro to wear a Redskin uniform.

Marshall has a couple of recommendations that he thinks could help baseball. He first would have the baseball season end around Labor Day, "and not try to compete in September with football." This, he claims, is a money-losing proposition.

Secondly, "baseball could improve itself with a sensible draft system, patterned after that of professional football. The only difference would be that baseball would have to draft players after their graduation from high school, not college."

Rounding out the outspoken article, Marshall had the following remarks about other sports:

Horse racing . . . "been making a lot of noise, belaboring us with attendance figures, but with no betting, how many people would watch horses run?

Fishing . . . "only fishermen are less interesting than them. (golfers or bowlers). The only thing I can say in behalf of fishing is that it is at least susceptible of corruption of any sport. There has yet to be a case of anyone caught trying to bribe a fish."

Tennis . . . "tennis is declining. This game has always been staged for the society-minded and the tennis associations, not the players. I have attended black-tie affairs at Newport, and observed those who made the gate receipts possible—the athletes show up in rented tuxes, with two dollars in their pockets. And if one of them asked for a few bucks for laundry, he'd be admonished by the game's great guardians of amateurism."

College basketball . . . "the public doesn't care about basketball. It doesn't even care about the game's scandals."

Boxing . . . "strictly a freak show for characters in poolrooms, bookie joints and barbershops. It doesn't even deserve to be called a sport anymore."

The Sport Scene

By JIM GOLDSBOROUGH

The Jefferson football teams will not, like the basketball squads, be forced to find other facilities for the 1962 season.

As announced now, the football field will be torn up in the spring of next year, and will be replanted in time for the fall season. The grass will be tough enough for use at that time, said Superintendent Ed Morgan. The track will be finished some time in August.

In basketball, it looks like the Westmoor Rams have the best chance between Westmoor, Jefferson and Terra Nova. The Indians' miseries will stem from lack of heights, lettermen and home court. The Tigers probably just haven't had enough time to build a top squad. This will be their first year of varsity competition.

At Westmoor, however, things look a little better. Four top men return from last year's squad, including Mike Daniels, Gary Allard, Jim Lucke and Steve Payette. It isn't the tallest squad in the world, but there is more height than on the other two teams. The Rams started slowly last year, losing their first five league games. Closing as a much-improved squad, they ended up with five wins.

At Terra Nova, these figures and honors came out last week:

End Roland Isnor, playing only half the season at offensive end, snared 13 passes to finish sixth in the league. Quarterback Don Katona finsihed sixth in total offense and fourth in passing.

Halfback Dennis Caruthers ranked 12th among the league's rushers.

Katona, Caruthers and lineman Manuel Pick all made All-Peninsula League honorable mention.

Pick, Caruthers and halfback Jim Boyette were named team captains.

On the frosh-soph team, Tommy Summy and Mike Blagrove were chosen co-captains, and Allen Fizer was named most improved player.

In the recently completed lightweight basketball, Bernard Bolter was chosen most valuable on the 110s and John Bresnahan made it on the 120s.

Westmoor had the only first-string placement on any of the All-Peninsula League teams selected. Steve Schmuck, junior end on the Rams, made the top 11. Both Jefferson and Westmoor landed second-team placements with center Joe Bollentini making it for the Indians and quarterback Steve Funai for the Rams. Additional honorable mention went to Ram lineman Rich Vullo.

Ed Tomasello of the recreation department was explaining the other day why he thinks the kids league set-up of the rec department is better than some of the national programs that are around. In particular, in baseball we had wondered why the various Babe Ruth, Pony and Little League programs were passed by. Tomasello thinks that our program is superior because the kids can compete in their particular age groups, like fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth, and aren't lumped into the broader categories like the 9-13 age group of the Little League.

It sounds like good sense. It's probably pretty hard for a nine-year-old to get any action with 13-year-old kids around.

Bob St. Clair made a big hit with just about everyone when he made the awards at the rec department's awards banquet two weeks ago. The original plan had called for St. Clair to present the awards to only the winning teams. He had another engagement later in the evening and was pressed for time. When he heard how disappointed the other kids would be, he stayed right on and personally congratulated every youngster that had participated in the football program.

For the college basketball fan, the closest competition to the Daly City area is found at San Francisco State. Head coach Paul Rundell's squad returns home from an eastern swing to open competition in the Far Western Conference against the University of the Pacific on January 13. That will be the first league game of the year at the State gym on 19th and Holloway.

Coach Rundell, who resides at 76 Clearview drive, Daly City, will experience what might be called Daly Cityitis this year as he, like coaches Orlich, Giammona and Burt, will suffer from almost no returning lettermen.

Ah, well . . . as a wise man once remarked: "When nothing is expected, success is so much more appreciated."

Back at the recreation department, Chuck Vincent, Daly City director of recreation, has organized the children of all the local playgrounds in a fine effort to provide canned food for needy families in the area. The kids will be ringing doorbells on December 18-21 asking for your donations. The playground that obtains the most canned food will be rewarded with a complete issue of new athletic equipment and games.

State College Team Opens With Loss

Around the corner, the San Francisco State College Gators opened their season last week against a strong Santa Clara team and went under to the Broncs, 76-41. Bob Garibaldi, red-hot Bronco sophomore, dropped in six of six field goals and ended up with 16 points, leading his team in scoring.

High point man for the Gators was center Tom Cleary with 17 points.

The Gators left during the weekend for a tour of the east, where they will play Memphis State, Toledo and Western Michigan, returning home to meet Utah State University on Dec. 18.

Following the Utah State game, the Gators will play in the West Coast Athletic Conference tournament at USF, Dec. 26-30.

First league game in the SF State's men's gym will be against University of the Pacific on Jan. 13. The men's gym is located on the State campus, 19th and Holloway. All games start at 8 p. m. and are preceded by a junior varsity game at 6 o'clock. General admission is $1.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

by Jim Grealish

Over 150 bowlers have already registered for "Tavern Night" which will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, December 16. All of the teams sponsored by taverns will be represented plus many other bowlers. Among the cocktail lounges represented are the following: New Alpine, John's 2400 Club, 101 Club, Sai Wu Restaurant, Babes Tower Inn, Bernal Club, 12 Mile House, The New Mint, Zanzibar, Orengo's, Dolphs Club, Irving Club, Westlake Lounge, Vince and Fred's, Five O'Clock Club, Joe's of Westlake, Lloyd's Tavern, Baroni's Tavern, The Greatest, Cattlemen Club, Duffy's Corner, Iron Duke, Martell's, Nick's Rockaway, Gene Cocktails, Dino's Liquors, Montaque's, Quarts and Pints.

Anne Ikler stopped the action in the monthly fashion show last Thursday afternoon when she finished her second game with seven consecutive strikes for a 243 total in the Westlake Keglerettes League. Anne is now a member of the Over 225 Club.

Ronny Lyson was the high roller in the Twilight Mixed Fives last week with a 245 game and 574 series.

Ray Spina missed the 600 mark by six pins in the Southwest Handicap with a 215 game enroute.

Over 300 persons were on hand for the third anniversary party last Saturday night and a good time was had by all. An abundance of talent was uncovered among the guests including a singing trio, an authentic hula dancer, a cocktail waitress vocalist and a trumpet playing bartender.

Tom Franza, the Telco Terror had the right number last Monday with a 640 series on games 191-245 and 204 in the Happy Mixed Fives League.

Certified Instructor Dick Truesdell not only tells his students how to bowl, he also shows them. In the Ball and Chain Mixed League he had a 620 series with high games of 213 and 217. Later in the week Dick shot a 609 series in the American Masters.

Ernie Huber didn't quite make the 600 mark but he did have two games of 200 and 216 in the Westlake Knolls League.

A new name among the leaders was that of Bruce Farber in the 825 Scratch League with games of 183-197 and 235 for a 615 total.

Bob Elwell and Amos Cendali were the leaders in the Country Club Handicap with 202-586 and 251-590 respectively.

The State College Leagues will start their vacation this Friday December 15 and will return to classes January 2.

The Byrons Shoes Team of the Holy Rollers League have set a new high team series for the league with games of 608-600-601 for an 1809 total. Congratulations to Eve Caven, Kay Mahoney, Ruby Nilan and Thelma Wall. Ruby Nilan was the individual leader with a 199 game and 501 series.

RECREATION LEAGUE PRACTICE TILTS TO END. LEAGUE PLAY STARTS JAN 6

The Daly City Department of Recreation basketball leagues played off their second series of practice games on Saturday, Dec. 9. This year the series of practice games under league conditions were added to give the teams experience under fire. The practice game schedule and the break for the holidays should make the leagues real toughies this year. The teams have a chance to find their weaknesses and work on them before the league games start on Jan. 6.

The Fifth Grade league saw the PAL Eagles take the OLPH Hornets this week, 18-13. Belfrage of the Eagles hit five field goals for 10 points. Giudice of the Hornets collected five points. In a tough defensive game, the OLM Gaels defeated the OLM Dons, 7-4. Holy Angels Lions sat out with a bye this week.

Sixth grade play saw the BYA Hawks, led by Noffsinger and Landis, dominate the BYA Little Giants, 29-12, in a game that emptied the benches of both teams. The BYA Hotshots' forward Storbe, racked up eight points as his team downed the OLPH Hilltoppers, 21-16. Hall and Guedel of the Hilltoppers hit for six points each. J. Duryea of the OLM Hurricanes tanked 10 points to lead his team to a victory over the PAL Wildcats, 30-12. Wayne Silber of the Wildcats was high for his team with six points. The PAL Bears were inactive as they drew a bye.

Seventh Grade Action

Seventh grade action was dominated by the Di Bernardi twins, Mat and Mark. The boys turned in a real twin performance. Both scored nine field goals and one free throw for 19 points each as their team, the PAL Warriors, defeated the PAL Lakers, 76-23. Mini of the Lakers was high for the losers with eight points.

The Holy Angels Falcons, newcomers to the league, ran into the high scoring PAL tigers, las year's sixth grade champs. The Falcons could only score a single point against the Tigers. Mike Miller is off to a good start this year with a 13 point performance, followed by teammate Mike Wynne with 10. Tigers 48, Falcons 1.

Budea of the Ben Franklin seventh grade team contributed an 18 point effort as his club overwhelmed the OLPH Crusaders, 42-26. Andy Sioria, also an outstanding baseball player, scored 12 points for the losers. The OLM Angels downed the PAL Saints, 32-20. Mike Madigan, son of the former St. Ignatius High star athlete, led his team with 10 points in the win. Blandini of the Saints hit for seven points.

New Pisa nullified a 12-point effort by John Heock (BYA Darts) as they spread their scoring over many players. New Pisa collected 36 points while the BYA Darts collected eight others in addition to Heick's 12.

New Pisa 36, BYA Darts 20.

Ben Franklin Rockets had a field day against the Holy Angel Jets. Every man on the Ben Franklin team contributed points toward the 51-14 victory. Robert Langsam was high point man with 13, while Rocky Collins led the losers with eight. The OLM Tankers came up with their second win as they defeated the OLPH Warriors, 27-16 Nash, Nilsen and Thompson shared honors with six point apiece while Allen tanked six for the losers. The upset of the week came when the PAL Pistons knocked off the PAL Hawks. Jerry Benson took honors with 14 points. Piccardo of the losers collected 12. The absence of Billy Hernan hurt the Hawks while the Pistons came through with a real team effort. All players on the Pistons accounted for points as they won, 31-25.

Catholic Youth Form Teen Club

Teenage representatives for more than 4,000 Catholic Youth from Daly City to Menlo Park met at St. Gregory's Parish Hall, San Mateo, to organize a CYO Parish Teen Club Federation of San Mateo County.

Twenty-one youthful delegates drew up a federation constitution calling for regular meetings and the exchange of ideas which will enable them to reinforce the spiritual, cultural and athletic programs of their respective clubs.

At the suggestion of the Rev. Peter Armstrong, assistant Archdiocesan CYO director, who acted as moderator, the representatives adopted the theme, "Unity Without Conformity," in the interest of preserving the individuality of their respective clubs.

The next meeting of the young leaders will be on Dec. 17 at 11:30 a.m. in St. Gregory's Parish Hall for the election of federation officers. Those who attended the first meeting were:

Daly City: David Balestreri, 172 Peoria street, Our Lady of Perpetual Help; South San Francisco: Sherry Benzler, 331 King drive, and Pat Anne Warren, 127 Longford street; Colma: Rita Reyes, 319 Willits street, Our Lady of Perpetual Help.

Tigers Ready For Openers

It looks as if Terra Nova, like Jefferson, will be facing some problems on the basketball court as the BB openers on January 3 approach.

The Indians troubles are caused by 1) no returning starters, and 2) no court. The Tigers woes, according to coach Rich Burt, are that most of the team hasn't made the transformation from football to basketball season yet.

Three of the Tiger starters were starters on the football team. A fourth, Roland Isnor, was a football regular.

Tentative starting lineup:

Manuel Pick, forward, 6' 1"

Dewey Melton, forward, 5' 10"

Fred Mason, center, 5' 11"

Bud Bresnahan, guard, 5' 9"

Dennis Carruthers, guard, 5' 1"

The sixth man on whom Burt is counting heavily is Roland Isnor, a 5' 10" hustler who can go at either forward or guard.

OFFENSE OFF

Burt's greatest difficulty thus far has been in scoring. Against O'Connel the Tigers managed 38 points as they lost 42-38. They beat Half Moon Bay 43-39, but dropped a real one-sided contest to Lick Wilmerding 43-19.

Adding to the list of starters are Fred Mason, last year's rebound leader, and Roger Schnittgunt, Bart Kerr and Barry Landolt.

Last years team started slowly, but came on strong toward the season's end, managing to win the last three out of four. Things will start off tough right from the start this year with January 3rds first game against tough South City.

Asked who would be the power this year, Burt said, "At first I thought it would be San Mateo. Now in addition to the Bearcats, there will be Capuchino, Hillsdale, Mills, South City, Burlingame and Westmoor."

Like who else is there?

Local Gridder Joins Packers

Jerry Scattini, 6-1 200-pound Millbrae-grown halfback, is going to be in with the best starting next season.

The former Capuchino High and College of San Mateo gridder who went on to play for Cal Bears was drafted in the 19th round of the recent NFL college draft by the Green Bay Packers, Western Division NFL League champs.

Dodge Ridge Completes New Ski Facilities

Keeping pace with the phenomenal growth of skiing, Dodge Ridge has completed an entirely new $250,000 development at the Sonora Pass resort.

Included in the expansion program are a new ski bowl, situated just east of the present East Bowl and a new Riblet double chairlift. This new ski bowl will almost double the area's skiing terrain, with miles of new runs for advanced and novice skiers alike. The new Riblet double chairlift is 3,300 feet long, with a vertical rise of 950 feet. With additional parking and access road, Dodge Ridge now has paved parking facilities for 2,000 automobiles.

State and Forest Service officials made final inspection on the new lift last week, and certified it as ready for operation.

ACTION IN SEASON'S closer, Westmoor vs. Terra Nova. Mike Barich (48) and Mike Bowers (76) lead interference for ballcarrier Mike Kearney (not shown), as Kearney runs for a six-yard pick-up.
